Appropriations for 1964 In County Are $1,238,135

Appropriations for operation of Pickaway County government in 1964 total $1,238,135.71, an increase of $73,609.25 in all funds.

The departmental appropriations were given final approval this week by the Board of County Commissioners. The figures were announced following a detailed study of budget requests and anticipated receipts that will become available during the year.

Of the 1964 amount, $654,968.91 was appropriated for the general fund. This represents an increase of $32,642.45 over last year's figure of $622,326.46.

Appropriations for this year's motor vehicle and gasoline tax fund amounted to $515,300. This is $26,900 less than in 1963.

A FEW departments will have varying appropriations increases this year. Others will remain practically unchanged from 1963 and some will be actually lower. According to the Commissioners, the larger amounts are based mainly on the increasing volume of business and services performed in the county offices concerned.

The general fund balance at the close of 1963, was $77,938.91. A balance of between $10,000 and $15,000 is expected at the end of this year.

Here are the amounts appropriated for the various units of county government (last year's figures shown in parentheses):

Commissioners, $21,150 (20,750); auditor, $35,690 (32,850); assessing personal property, $6,000 (6,500); treasurer, $21,200 (21,000); prosecuting attorney, $10,955 (same); board of revision, $500 (none); bureau of inspection, $500 (same); court of appeals, none ($250).

Common pleas court, $20,401.30 (same); juvenile court, $12,420 (14,620); probate court, $22,951.36 (24,251.36); clerk of courts, $22,750 (same); coroner, $2,065 (1,815); police, municipal court and civil defense, $7,500 (7,200).

Board of elections, $42,465.16 (36,278.16); courthouse and jail, $62,355 (61,030); memorial hall, $5,800 (8,300); building fund, $19,000 (none); sheriff, $53,730 (54,230); recorder, $12,400 (11,250).

Bitter Cold Adds To Miseries of Snowbound East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bitter cold added woe to misery today as the eastern half of the nation continued to dig out of its worst snowstorm of the winter.

Thousands of motorists and others were stranded and more than 140 deaths were blamed on the blizzard-like onslaught.

New York City sanitation men, 8,000 strong, were bolstered by 3,000 extras hired at $2 an hour to shovel snow from streets.

In the South, Florida citrus growers readied heaters for the lowest temperatures — 23 in Jacksonville and 42 in Miami Beach — since the crop-killing freeze 13 months ago.

Temperatures also plummeted elsewhere—to 11 below zero early today in Albany, N.Y. Biting winds made it seem even colder.

In New York City, police and a doctor teamed up Monday to bring an emergency supply of blood to one-day-old Lisa Cavalluzzo in a Queens hospital. Lisa, needing a complete replacement of blood, got it in time although a police car broke down in the snow trying to deliver it.

The doctor's car also gave up, miles from the hospital. A police car, which took him the rest of the way, bogged down in snow for 15 minutes before delivering him to make the transfusion.

Lisa was in satisfactory condition today.

Another New York City child became a victim of the snow. He was 5-year-old Scott Rubenstein. Police think he tunneled into a snow-bank, which collapsed and trapped him.

Elsewhere in the East and Midwest:

Scores died from overexertion or exposure as they shoveled snow, tried to dig out stuck autos or trudged through deep expanses of white.

On a Raleigh, N. C., street, Michael N. Summy, 6, was killed when his sled ran under a truck.

Among thousands marooned by the storm were hundreds of motorists in Indiana, Illinois and on New York City's Belt Parkway. Buses rescued the latter group. The others began to move as conditions eased.

Youngstown, Ohio, got 16 inches of snow, heaviest in six years; Albany, N.Y., 15 inches, heaviest 24-hour fall for any January on record; Washington, D.C., 9 inches, heaviest in more than five years.

Accused Assassin To Be Defended

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A New York lawyer has agreed to represent Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy, and will try to prove him innocent, his mother said Tuesday.

The mother, Mrs. Marguerite Oswald, told reporters that attorney Mark Lane would appear for her dead son before the special presidential commission investigating the assassination.

Lane several weeks ago submitted a lengthy brief to the commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren stating that Oswald should be defended. Mrs. Oswald contends her son is innocent or acted with others if guilty. Evidence released by government agencies has indicated Oswald acted alone.

Ex-Patient Uses Plane In Suicide

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP)—A former mental patient ignored police rifle fire and the pleas of the man who taught him to fly and crashed his private plane into a classroom building at Oklahoma Baptist University Tuesday.

The pilot, Robert Lawson, 43, Inola, Okla., was killed when the rented single-engine plane ripped a gaping hole in the side of Shawnee Hall and burst into flames.

Lawson had warned authorities he would crash into the administration building. But he left the campus more than 20 years ago and administrative offices were moved eight years ago from Shawnee Hall to Thurmond Hall. He apparently was unaware of the move.

Officers evacuated Thurmond Hall, but scores of students were taking final examinations in Shawnee Hall. No one else was injured.

Lawson's son, Mike, 21, is a student at the college. His former wife, Vashli, is a junior high school teacher here.

Police fired high-powered rifles at the plane as it winged low over the Student Union and angled past a flag pole on its fatal run. An autopsy later showed no bullet wounds in Lawson's body.

Fred Reese, Shawnee airport manager who taught Lawson to fly when Lawson was a student here 24 years ago, said he tried to talk Lawson out of making his suicide flight.

"He felt this entire world was against him," Reese said.

U.S., Panama Flags Raised Side by Side

BALBOA, Canal Zone (AP)—U.S. and Panamanian flags were raised side by side at Balboa High School today. There was applause from both American and Panamanian witnesses.

About 300 adults, including a handful of Panamanians, ringed the front lawn of the school to watch the ceremony.

The student body gathered on the sidewalks and at school windows as a high school ROTC color guard raised the flags.

U.S.-Panama Relations To Be Renewed

Discussions Due
In 30 Days on Various Issues

PANAMA (AP)—The United States and Panama agreed today to re-establish diplomatic relations "as quickly as possible" and to open discussions 30 days after resumption of relations on all issues between the two countries.

The agreement did not specifically mention the treaty giving the United States control of the Panama Canal Zone, which Panama wants revised. But its language made clear this would be among the issues to be discussed.

Panamanian President Roberto Chari's press officer, Fabian Velarde, said his government would wait awhile, perhaps a week, "to let things cool off" before resuming relations with the United States.

He said Panama then would ask a third government to advise Washington of the desire to restore relations, which Chari broke off at the height of (Continued on Page 2)

Texas Town Bans Sale of Cigarettes

EASTLAND, Tex. (AP)—It may get to be against the law but don't expect to see the local jail jammed with people caught selling or smoking cigarettes in this west central Texas town.

Mayor Don Pierson said the City Council doesn't really expect to send anybody to prison—just wants them to quit smoking.

The council passed on first reading Tuesday a proposed ordinance imposing a three-year prison sentence or a maximum fine of $1,000 for selling cigarettes here. Four voted for it and one abstained.

The law would not affect persons passing through Eastland, a town of 3,342.

When the proposed ordinance came to light, local citizens—some of them—couldn't believe it. Others puffed their cigarettes indignantly.

City Council action followed the surgeon general's report that cigarettes are serious health hazards, Pierson said, and "was to focus the community's attention on the serious problem of smoking." "The main purpose has been accomplished," he said.

Colorado City Cool On War Dances

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP)—In some places, William J. Young complained, the Indian war dance is an honored form of art.

Not so in Pueblo—at least not as Young does it.

He was arrested by police who said he created disturbances by staging Indian war dances at a number of taverns.

Taken before Magistrate John F. McGrath, Young said he has some Indian blood. He added he also had a train ticket to return him to Philadelphia.

The judge asked Young, 30, to use his ticket and police said today he had left.

Divorce To Be Slow

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor's suit to divorce Eddie Fisher "surely will not be settled" in time for her to marry Richard Burton in Mexico, one of her attorneys said today.

Miss Taylor filed for divorce in Puerto Vallarta Tuesday, charging that Fisher "abandoned our legal domicile more than a year ago and we have lived separated since without his having started any action to dissolve our marriage."

Burton must leave Puerto Vallarta by Jan. 23 for Toronto to begin rehearsing a stage production of "Hamlet."

Miss Taylor and Burton, secluded in the cliffside home they have shared in Puerto Vallarta since September, refused to talk to newsmen.

Jaycees Awards Banquet Jan. 27

The Annual Awards Banquet sponsored by the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce has been scheduled for Jan. 27 at the Fairgrounds 4-H and Grange Building.

The dinner session will start at 6:30 p. m. Highlights will be the introduction of the outstanding young man in Circleville for 1963 and formal presentation of the community's outstanding young farmer.

Speaker for the evening will be Ken Mack of Columbus radio fame. The annual Jaycees banquet is chairmaned this year by Dwight Radcliff.

Radcliff also is chairman of the committee handling the outstanding young man award. Joe Blue heads the committee responsible for selecting the outstanding young farmer.

THE distinguished service award, presented to a young man between the ages of 21 and 35 on the basis of his contributions to the community, last year went to Robert M. Johnson of Circleville.

The outstanding young farmer award went to John Skinner of the Atlanta community.

Radcliff said nomination blanks for the DSA award may be obtained by contacting him. They also will be available at The Herald. The forms must be returned to Radcliff by Jan. 22.

Tickets for the awards dinner are being distributed by Jaycees members. The organization plans to sell between 150 and 175 of the du-rats.

As in past years, the Circleville Kiwanis Club will take part in the banquet. Members will gather at the 4-H and Grange Building instead of conducting their regular Monday meeting at the Mecca Restaurant.

John F. Kennedy told the nation of her grief and of the comfort she gained from the thousands of messages after her husband's assassination.

"Whenever I can bear to, I read them," she said, her eyes shining with tears, then murmured: "All his bright light gone from the world."

The former first lady expressed the thanks of herself and her children for the 800,000 messages of tribute and condolence in a statement broadcast on radio and television Tuesday from the office of her brother-in-law, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Clad in black and sitting before a blazing fireplace, Mrs. Kennedy said the "knowledge of the affection in which my husband was held by all of you has sustained me, and the warmth of these tributes is something I shall never forget."

In a voice so low it was barely audible to those around her, the president's 34-year-old widow declared that "all of you who have written to me know how much we all loved him and that he returned that love in full measure."

She said it is her greatest wish to acknowledge all the letters, even though "it will take a long time."

Mrs. Kennedy declared that "each and every message is to be treasured not only for my children but so that future generations will know how much our country and people in other nations thought of him."

The letters thus will be placed eventually, she said, in the Kennedy library to be erected in Boston—a library which she hopes will become "a living center of study of the times in which he lived."

Ice Chunks Threaten To Halt River Traffic

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—Ice chunks building into walls three and four feet high are choking the Ohio River here today and threaten to bring vessel traffic to a halt.

Henry Conway, lockmaster at Stratton Dam, which is halfway between here and Steubenville, said ice on the river was getting thicker but the lock was still operating. Two upbound vessels locked through at Stratton today but neither got beyond Wellsville.

Witness Tells Of Fears in Ironton Case

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Threats have been uttered since a December hearing on alleged voting irregularities in Lawrence County, a witness asserted today.

Mrs. Louise Patton of South Webster in Washington Township said: "everyone taking the witness stand is jeopardizing themselves and their families."

She is one of 67 witnesses subpoenaed for further testimony today in an investigation being conducted by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown. Brown's office says the investigation is to look into charges of vote-buying, excessive absentee and disabled ballots in Washington and Decatur townships, and other alleged irregularities.

Like the Dec. 3 hearing, testimony is being taken today at Ironton's municipal building. About 100 persons crowded into the hearing room, and others stood in the halls.

Officials said 18 of those subpoenaed could not be located. Mrs. Patton would not name those she said threatened her, but said she was confronted with such statements, as, "Aren't you afraid Harvey (her husband) will be shot?" and "Suppose there's going to be a burning?"

The situation she didn't bring the situation of which she spoke to the attention of authorities because she didn't have money for attorneys and warrants.

Other testimony today indicated persons from outside the precincts, out-of-county and out-of-state voted in Washington and Decatur townships. Asked what the attraction might be, Mrs. Patton's husband Harvey—defeated in the Nov. 5 election as a Democratic candidate in Washington Township—said he believes "it's a matter of money."

Patton asserted that such a situation has existed "probably 35 to 40 years."

Idle Pay Claims Increase in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Both new and continuing claims for unemployment compensation showed increases in the week ended Jan. 11, the new claims going above the weekly average of January last year.

The new claims totaled 26,031 compared with 21,308 in the week ended Jan. 4. In January of last year there was an average of 23,213 new claims filed each week.

Continuing claims of those unemployed one week or more totaled 119,410 compared with the 113,087 in the week ended Jan. 4. In January of last year the average of continuing claims on file each week was 137,238.

450 Ohio Idle Pay Aides May Be Idled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Administrator Willard P. Dudley warned today that reduced federal allocations may force lay-off of 450 employees in the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation by Feb. 1.

He complained in letters to Ohio members of Congress that administrative funds were chopped about $1 million below last year's bureau expenditures of about $17 million.

Opera, Hootenanny Mix

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson served Italian opera and American hootenanny at his first official White House state dinner for Italian President Antonio Segni.

As his VIP guests left the snowy driveways of the White House toward midnight, the President returned to his office with some of his advisers, saying he had to "go back to the coal mine." Problems involving the crisis in Panama still faced him.

Mrs. Johnson whispered in the President's ear just before he left. She told him not to make it another late night, Johnson revealed to reporters with a smile.

The Johnsons had invited 138 guests, including many prominent Italian-Americans, to their first formal state dinner. It featured filet of beef and a mocha mousse dessert, served on Tru-man china at 11 small tables in the big state dining room.

Among the guests were composer Gian-Carlo Menotti and labor leaders George Meany and David Dubinsky.

In honor of Segni, the Johnsons gave their party a blend of Italian and American music.

Baritone Robert Merrill of the Metropolitan Opera was applauded warmly as he sang selections from the operas of Verdi and Rossini.

Then, nine lively young folk-singers—the New Christy Minstrels—took over the East Room stage, with a guitar and a banjo and virtually rocked the room with "Cotton Picker" and "Last Farewell," and "Saints Train."

Ex-Smokers Get Fidgety

NEW YORK (AP)—Scattered throughout this city today is a band of 900 fidgety "ex"-smokers, pampering themselves and shunning unpleasant decisions.

They have been told that if they can make it through the day without a cigarette they'll kick the habit.

Last Sunday, the day after the U.S. surgeon general's special report on the health hazards of smoking, 1,200 smokers gathered at Hunter College for a "five-day plan to stop smoking." They were put on a fruit diet, given pep talks and told to take long walks.

The third clinic was held Tuesday night and, by all reports, the going has been rough. A sheepish minority of the depleted band admitted they had smoked one or more cigarettes, but said they were still in there trying.

The Rev. Elman Folkenberg, Seventh-day Adventist minister who is running the clinic, advised the audience to "sidestep every unpleasant decision tomorrow; be real nice to yourself."

The worst thing they could do, he said, would be to cause themselves tension. A smoker under tension—smokes.

The clinic is endorsed by the New York City Department of Health and the American Cancer Society. The National Health Foundation and Research Institute of the Seventh-day Adventist Church has given the clinics in several cities.

The fundamentalist church started the clinics several years ago as an aid to new members. The church forbids smoking.

Liz Taylor's Latest Divorce To Be Slow

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor's suit to divorce Eddie Fisher "surely will not be settled" in time for her to marry Richard Burton in Mexico, one of her attorneys said today.

Miss Taylor filed for divorce in Puerto Vallarta Tuesday, charging that Fisher "abandoned our legal domicile more than a year ago and we have lived separated since without his having started any action to dissolve our marriage."

Burton must leave Puerto Vallarta by Jan. 23 for Toronto to begin rehearsing a stage production of "Hamlet."

Miss Taylor and Burton, secluded in the cliffside home they have shared in Puerto Vallarta since September, refused to talk to newsmen.

Jaycees Awards Banquet Jan. 27

The Annual Awards Banquet sponsored by the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce has been scheduled for Jan. 27 at the Fairgrounds 4-H and Grange Building.

The dinner session will start at 6:30 p. m. Highlights will be the introduction of the outstanding young man in Circleville for 1963 and formal presentation of the community's outstanding young farmer.

Speaker for the evening will be Ken Mack of Columbus radio fame. The annual Jaycees banquet is chairmaned this year by Dwight Radcliff.

Radcliff also is chairman of the committee handling the outstanding young man award. Joe Blue heads the committee responsible for selecting the outstanding young farmer.

THE distinguished service award, presented to a young man between the ages of 21 and 35 on the basis of his contributions to the community, last year went to Robert M. Johnson of Circleville.

The outstanding young farmer award went to John Skinner of the Atlanta community. Radcliff said nomination blanks for the DSA award may be obtained by contacting him. They also will be available at The Herald. The forms must

Banner Year In Space Seen For America

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Cape Kennedy's launching pads are bulging with rockets primed to ignite what could be a banner year in space for the United States.

Three are scheduled for launching during the last 10 days of January. They are the Relay 2 communications satellite, Jan. 21; the first two-stage test firing of Saturn 1, believed to be the world's mightiest rocket. Jan. 27; and the planned flight of the Ranger 6 spacecraft to snap closeup television pictures of the moon, Jan. 30.

The Titan 2 rocket is being groomed for the first flight in this nation's next man-in-space launching in March will attempt to hurl a dummy model of the two-man spacecraft into orbit. Two other unmanned launches are scheduled before the first astronaut orbital mission, set for November.

These are among 29 space shots scheduled from Cape Kennedy in 1964—an average of one every 12 days as the National Aeronautics and Space Administration pushes toward a goal of a manned lunar landing late in the decade.

This compares with only 10 space launches here in 1963.

Retailer Meeting Slated Tomorrow

Members of the Retail Merchants Committee of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce will meet 8 a. m. Thursday at the Chamber office on E. Main St.

The session will last about an hour, according to chairman Charles Scheiber. Members of the group are urged to attend.

Opera, Hootenanny Mix

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson served Italian opera and American hootenanny at his first official White House state dinner for Italian President Antonio Segni.

As his VIP guests left the snowy driveways of the White House toward midnight, the President returned to his office with some of his advisers, saying he had to "go back to the coal mine." Problems involving the crisis in Panama still faced him.

Mrs. Johnson whispered in be returned to Radcliff by Jan. 22.

Tickets for the awards dinner are being distributed by Jaycees members. The organization plans to sell between 150 and 175 of the tickets.

As in past years, the Circleville Kiwanis Club will take part in the banquet. Members will gather at the 4-H and Grange Building instead of conducting their regular Monday meeting at the Mecca Restaurant.

Mrs. Kennedy Tells of Grief

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy told the nation of her grief and of the comfort she gained from the thousands of messages after her husband's assassination.

"Whenever I can bear to, I read them," she said, her eyes shining with tears, then murmured: "All his bright light gone from the world."

The former first lady expressed the thanks of herself and her children for the 800,000 messages of tribute and condolence in a statement broadcast on radio and television Tuesday from the office of her brother-in-law, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Clad in black and sitting before a blazing fireplace, Mrs. Kennedy said the "knowledge of the affection in which my husband was held by all of you has sustained me, and the warmth of these tributes is something I shall never forget."

In a voice so low it was barely audible to those around her, the president's 34-year-old widow declared that "all of you who have written to me know how much we all loved him and that he returned that love in full measure."

She said it is her greatest wish to acknowledge all the letters, even though "it will take a long time."

Mrs. Kennedy declared that "each and every message is to be treasured not only for my children but so that future generations will know how much our country and people in other nations thought of him."

The letters thus will be placed eventually, she said, in the Kennedy library to be erected in Boston—a library which she hopes will become "a living center of study of the times in which he lived."

Ice Chunks Threaten To Halt River Traffic

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—Ice chunks building into walls three and four feet high are choking the Ohio River here today and threaten to bring vessel traffic to a halt.

Henry Conway, lockmaster at Stratton Dam, which is halfway between here and Steubenville, said ice on the river was getting thicker but the lock was still operating. Two upbound vessels locked through at Stratton today but neither got beyond Wellsville.

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Oliver J. Lee, 82, at one time one of the nation's leading astronomers, died Monday.

Witness Tells Of Fears in Ironton Case

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Threats have been uttered since a December hearing on alleged voting irregularities in Lawrence County, a witness asserted today.

Mrs. Louise Patton of South Webster in Washington Township said: "everyone taking the witness stand is jeopardizing themselves and their families."

She is one of 67 witnesses subpoenaed for further testimony today in an investigation being conducted by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown. Brown's office says the investigation is to look into charges of vote-buying, excessive absentee and disabled ballots in Washington and Decatur townships, and other alleged irregularities.

Like the Dec. 3 hearing, testimony is being taken today at Ironton's municipal building. About 100 persons crowded into the hearing room, and others stood in the halls.

Officials said 18 of those subpoenaed could not be located.

Mrs. Patton would not name those she said threatened her, but said she was confronted with such statements, as, "Aren't you afraid Harvey (her husband) will be shot?" and "Suppose there's going to be a burning?"

She said she didn't bring the situation of which she spoke to the attention of authorities because she didn't have money for attorneys and warrants.

Other testimony today indicated persons from outside the precincts, out-of-county and out-of-state voted in Washington and Decatur townships. Asked what the attraction might be, Mrs. Patton's husband Harvey—defeated in the Nov. 5 election as a Democratic candidate in Washington Township—said he believes "it's a matter of money."

Patton asserted that such a situation has existed "probably 35 to 40 years."

Idle Pay Claims Increase in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Both new and continuing claims for unemployment compensation showed increases in the week ended Jan. 11, the new claims going above the weekly average of January last year.

The new claims totaled 26,031 compared with 21,308 in the week ended Jan. 4. In January of last year there was an average of 23,213 new claims filed each week.

Continuing claims of those unemployed one week or more totaled 119,410 compared with the 113,087 in the week ended Jan. 4. In January of last year the average of continuing claims on file each week was 137,238.

450 Ohio Idle Pay Aides May Be Idled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Administration Willard P. Dudley warned today that reduced federal allocations may force lay-off of 450 employees in the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation by Feb. 1.

He complained in letters to Ohio members of Congress that administrative funds were chopped about $1 million below last year's bureau expenditures of about $17 million.

Ex-Smokers Get Fidgety

NEW YORK (AP)—Scattered throughout this city today is a band of 900 fidgety "ex"-smokers, pampering themselves and shunning unpleasant decisions.

They have been told that if they can make it through the day without a cigarette they'll kick the habit.

Last Sunday, the day after the U.S. surgeon general's special report on the health hazards of smoking, 1,200 smokers gathered at Hunter College for a "five-day plan to stop smoking." They were put on a fruit diet, given pep talks and told to take long walks.

The third clinic was held Tuesday night and, by all reports, the going has been rough. A sheepish minority of the depleted band admitted they had smoked one or more cigarettes, but said they were still in there trying.

The Rev. Elman Folkenberg, Seventh-day Adventist minister who is running the clinic, advised the audience to "sidestep every unpleasant decision tomorrow; be real nice to yourself."

The worst thing they could do, he said, would be to cause themselves tension. A smoker under tension—smokes.

The clinic is endorsed by the New York City Department of Health and the American Cancer Society. The National Health Foundation and Research Institute of the Seventh-day Adventist Church has given the clinics in several cities.

The fundamentalist church started the clinics several years ago as an aid to new members. The church forbids smoking.

Bobby Kennedy Takes Off For Talks with Sukarno

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy took off for Tokyo today on a special assignment from President Johnson to try to persuade Indonesian President Sukarno to back off from his "crush Malaysia" policy.

Shortly before takeoff time, the Philippine Foreign Office announced that Kennedy will arrive in Manila Monday for two days of talks with President Diosdado Macapagal and other officials who have been in recent contact with Sukarno.

Kennedy also is expected to visit London for conferences with Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home before returning here late next week to report to Johnson.

State Department experts who have been following the worsening Malaysia dispute were hopeful that Kennedy could make some contributions which would help improve contacts between Sukarno and the prime minister of Malaysia, Tunku Abdul Rahman.

The Philippines has offered to serve as a link to bring Sukarno and the Malaysians to a summit meeting. Thailand also has made reconciliation efforts.

Planes bearing U.S. insignia have been buzzing British military installations along the Malaysian-Indonesian border in Borneo, where an undeclared war is being fought, British military sources reported today.

The sources said it was assumed that Indonesian President Sukarno's regime is either using U.S. surplus planes without bothering to paint on Indonesia's insignia or is intentionally flying under the U.S. insignia to give the impression that America is backing Indonesia against Malaysia.

American-built B24s, a World War II type no longer used by the U.S. Air Force, have been buzzed British airfield in Kuching, Sarawak, and in the jungle about 95 miles southeast of Borneo, the sources said.

British troops are under strict orders not to fire on the planes.

Some B24s, which Sukarno is known to have, are painted silver with a star on the wings and rear fuselage, in American style, troops say.

The battle for the allegiance of the natives in Sarawak and Sabah, the Borneo states of the Malaysia Federation, is a major part of the border conflict. The British, defending the area under an agreement with the federation, think Washington has not given them enough support and they are afraid that Sukarno is gaining a propaganda advantage.

The undeclared war, described as such by Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia, so far is limited to jungle ambushes. The British have 6,000 troops in Sarawak and Sabah, their former Borneo territories, and are bearing the brunt of the fighting.

Crewman In Crash Is Found Dead

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP)—The body of a second flier from an Air Force jet bomber which crashed near here Monday was found on an icecapped mountain today. Only one of the five crewmen is still unaccounted for.

Two crew members had been found alive earlier and another had perished on the blizzard-swept slope near the scene of the wreckage.

The second body recovered was identified as Maj. Robert L. Payne, 41, of Tulsa, Okla., navigator of the B52 carrying two nuclear weapons. Both weapons, described as harmless in their present state because they were not primed, were found in the wreckage.

Payne's body was located about six miles from the plane crash, 20 miles west of Cumberland. Found dead earlier in the wreckage was Maj. Robert L. Townley, 42, of Gadsden, Ala., the bombardier.

Still missing and the object of an intense air and ground search was T. Sgt. Melvin Wooten, 27, of Tohatchi, N.M., the tail gunner.

The other crewmen, Maj. Thomas W. McCormick of Yakima, W. Va., and Capt. Parker C. Peedin, 29, of Smithfield, N.C., survived parachute jumps.

Vindication Gained by Pennsy Pair

GALLUP, N.M. (AP) — Marcus Lazarus, 69, and his daughter, Carol Mae, 24, a chemical engineer at Warren, Pa., were on their way home today after recovering $110 of a $140 traffic fine assessed against them last summer.

Attorney Richard McDermott said the father and daughter were satisfied with the court action and felt it was worth the 4,000-mile $250-round trip by train.

"We made the trip as a matter of principle," Carol said earlier. Judge Frank Zinn upheld Justice of the Peace Ben Thomas of Gamero on a speeding charge against Miss Lazarus but overruled an obstructing an officer charge against her father.

"It seemed that was the most important part," McDermott said.

Lazarus, 69, a retired wholesale paper dealer in Erie, stands 5 feet tall, and weighs about 100 pounds. The officer he was charged with obstructing state policeman Don Moberly, is 6-foot-6, a 250 pounder.

A $100 fine against Lazarus was returned. The speeding fine against the daughter was reduced from $25 to $15. Court costs of $15 were charged the father and daughter.

Stock Mart Edges Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market edged toward new highs today in continued rapid trading.

Half a dozen or more key issues including AT&T, IBM, New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad traded at 1963-64 highs. The market averages approached historic peaks or exceeded them.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up 7.7 at noon at 290.3, above the closing record established Tuesday. The Dow Jones industrial average was up .13 at 774.36 at noon, falling back from a small morning gain.

A majority of the advances were fractional and many groups displayed an uneven pattern. Volume was running at a speedier pace than Tuesday, the busiest session of the year.

Winchell's former wife, Mrs. Dorothy Ackerman, 40, of Miami Beach, Fla., had complained that Winchell was behind in his $400-a-month payments for their children, Stephanie, 18, and Stacy Paul, 10.

Navy Offers Programs to HS Graduates

James W. Yarrington, local U. S. Navy Recruiting Officer, announced today that high school graduates are being sought by the Navy's Polaris Field Seaman Recruit Program.

Yarrington said "to the man who tries and qualifies for this highly specialized field, the Navy will thoroughly train in the maintenance and operation of the intricate guidance system which delivers the Polaris missile to its target."

The mechanically inclined high school graduate who qualifies for the launcher phase will receive training in the technical skills required to arm and fire the missile, he added.

This program is only one of many offered by the Navy to high school graduates, Yarrington said. After basic training at San Diego, Calif., or Great Lakes, Ill., and a class school in his field, the navy man will be stationed for travel all over the world.

Information concerning the Navy programs may be obtained by contacting the recruiter between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. every Thursday at the Circleville Post Office.

Courses Offered At OU Branch

The Lancaster Branch of Ohio University is offering several courses in education and psychology the second semester of the school year.

Two new education courses not offered previously at the branch will be on the schedule. the crisis last weekend. The intermediary is expected to be Costa Rica, which was named to handle Panama's affairs in Washington during the break.

The agreement was reached by Edwin M. Martin, President Johnson's special envoy, and Panamanian Foreign Minister Galileo Solis, meeting with the peace committee of the Organization of American States.

At the outset of the OAS-sponsored talks Sunday, Panama had insisted that resumption of diplomatic relation should be preceded by a strong U.S. declaration of intent to review the 1903 treaty that the United States perpetual sovereignty over the Canal Zone. The United States reportedly balked at making such a pledge under pressure.

Panama is not expected to call on the United States to get out of the Canal Zone, which cuts the strategic Latin-American country in half. Solis has made clear that Panama is not interested in running the canal. He stressed, however, that his government will seek to reduce the boundaries of the zone, which is 10 miles wide and extends 36 miles from the Caribbean to the Pacific.

Panama also is expected to seek an increase in the $1.9 million the United States pays annually for the use of the canal and greater opportunities for advancement for Panamanians in the Canal Zone Company.

Quiet prevailed along the Canal Zone borders where 21 Panamanians and 3 U.S. soldiers were killed last weekend. The violence stemmed from Panamanian resentment—apparently egged on by pro-Castro Communists—to the defiance by American high school students in the Canal Zone of regulations requiring the joint display of U.S. and Panamanian flags in the zone.

Local State Patrol Post Recaps Activities for 1963

Sgt. S. L. Adomaitis of Circleville's State Highway Patrol Post today noted the number of traffic deaths in the nation in 1963 reached a new high for the second consecutive year.

In recapping the year's activities of the local post, Sgt. Adomaitis asked all area motorists to "do more in '64" for highway safety. He emphasized that every motorist and pedestrian should not only talk safety, but also take an active part in making highways safe.

In patrolling Pickaway and southern Franklin County, OSP cars traveled 413,109 miles during 1963, according to the patrol post head.

Patrol officers investigated 501 accidents, making 303 arrests. They also made 1,872 other traffic arrests during the year.

MISDEMEANOR arrests, including such things as citing a motorist for failure to transfer registration or to have a valid operator's license, totaled 407.

Besides making arrests and investigating accidents, patrolmen operating out of the local post issued 5,040 warnings, and assisted more than 650 motorists whose car had become disabled.

Officers inspected 291 school buses in Pickaway and Franklin Counties and 29 church buses.

The duty roster included, 176 special details, such as making speeches. Officers talked to an estimated 1,809 persons.

The local post received 8,199 telephone calls during the year. Officers answered the personal inquiries of 2,636 persons.

They made 207 safety inspections for the public utilities commission.

THE POST recorded 29 felony arrests made by personnel in Pickaway and Southern Franklin Counties. The unit recovered $26,132 worth of lost or stolen property in the area.

Sgt. Adomaitis noted that a more detailed report of accidents occurring in Pickaway County will be completed soon.

City Board of Education Aims Several Coming Events

Last night's January meeting of the Circleville Board of Education saw much discussion of coming events. But official action by the board was held to a minimum.

The board began mapping plans for the proposed bond issue slated for decision by district voters at the polls in May.

A citizens committee, similar to the one organized prior to November's defeat of a $1,848,000 bond issue, will be formulated. The body will direct its attention toward a pre-election campaign. Committee members and meeting dates are to be arranged later.

Receiving board sanction was the sponsoring of a theater party by the CHS Activities Program as presented by Richard Snouffer, principal.

THE GROUP will sponsor a showing of the cinerama feature, "How The West Was Won" at a Columbus Theater. According to initial plans, more than 500 seats will be reserved for Circleville patrons.

The theater party has been set for Feb. 9, with special rates to people in this area. Tickets will be sold by students.

Glenn Rich, director of elementary and secondary education of the state department, was approved by the board as speaker for CHS's 1964 commencement exercises, pending his acceptance.

Mrs. Elaine Poling, 134 Seyfert Ave., was employed on a half-time basis for first grade work at Nicholas Drive and Atwater to alleviate a problem caused by excessive enrollment in the two areas.

One of several items reviewed by the school board was a testing program developed last year. Superintendent Fritz Jacobs explained the project and presented a report using statistical data of last year's progress.

Consideration was given to the purchase of a new bus for the next school year. It would replace a 1954 model now in use. No action was taken on the matter. The board is awaiting specific information regarding a recent State Board of Education policy as to the purchase of school buses.

A SCHOOL activity program was adopted as recommended by the State Board of Education. The new policy sets down standards for all contests and activities in which students participate.

It defines the various contests and activities and states that none shall be sponsored "Primarily for entertainment purposes." The policy lists regulations concerning travel, organizations sponsoring an activity or contest, financial accounting and participation by students.

Brotherhood Meeting Scheduled Thursday

The Trinity Lutheran Church Brotherhood will meet 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Parish House. Dartball will be included on the program. A highlight will be the showing of films of a canoe trip undertaken by Pastor Carl Zehner, James Peters and Ed Cross.

Bobby Kennedy Takes Off For Talks with Sukarno

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy took off for Tokyo today on a special assignment from President Johnson to try to persuade Indonesian President Sukarno to back off from his "crush Malaysia" policy.

Shortly before takeoff time, the Philippine Foreign Office announced that Kennedy will arrive in Manila Monday for two days of talks with President Diosdado Macapagal and other officials who have been in recent contact with Sukarno. Kennedy also is expected to visit London for conferences with Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home before returning here late next week to report to Johnson.

State Department experts who have been following the worsening Malaysia dispute were hopeful that Kennedy could make some contributions which would help improve contacts between Sukarno and the prime minister of Malaysia, Tunku Abdul Rahman.

The Philippines has offered to serve as a link to bring Sukarno and the Malaysians to a summit meeting. Thailand also has made reconciliation efforts.

Planes bearing U.S. insignia have been buzzing British military installations along the Malaysian-Indonesian border in Borneo, where an undeclared war is being fought, British military sources reported today.

Crewman In Crash Is Found Dead

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP)—The body of a second flier from an Air Force jet bomber which crashed near here Monday was found on an ice-capped mountain today. Only one of the five crewmen is still unaccounted for.

Two crew members had been found alive earlier and another had perished on the blizzard-swept slope near the scene of the wreckage.

The second body recovered was identified as Maj. Robert L. Payne, 41, of Tulsa, Okla., navigator of the B52 carrying two nuclear weapons. Both weapons, described as harmless in their present state because they were not primed, were found in the wreckage.

Payne's body was located about six miles from the plane crash, 20 miles west of Cumberland.

Found dead earlier in the wreckage was Maj. Robert L. Townley, 42, of Gadsden, Ala., the bombardier.

Still missing and the object of an intense air and ground search was T. Sgt. Melvin Wooten, 27, of Tohatchi, N.M., the tail gunner.

The other crewmen, Maj. Thomas W. McCormick of Yak, N.C., survived parachute jumps.

Vindication Gained by Pennsy Pair

GALLUP, N.M. (AP) — Marcus Lazarus, 69, and his daughter, Carol Mae, 24, a chemical engineer at Warren, Pa., were on their way home today after recovering $110 of a $140 traffic fine assessed against them last summer.

Attorney Richard McDermott said the father and daughter were satisfied with the court action and felt it was worth the 4,000-mile $250-round trip by train.

"We made the trip as a matter of principle," Carol said earlier.

Judge Frank Zinn upheld Justice of the Peace Ben Thomas of Gamero on a speeding charge against Miss Lazarus but overruled an obstructing an officer charge against her father.

"It seemed that was the most important part," McDermott said. Lazarus, 69, a retired wholesale paper dealer in Erie, stands 5 feet tall, and weighs about 100 pounds. The officer he was charged with obstructing state policeman Don Moberly, is 6-foot-6, a 250 pounder.

A $100 fine against Lazarus was returned. The speeding fine against the daughter was reduced from $25 to $15. Court costs of $15 were charged the father and daughter.

Stock Mart Edges Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market edged toward new highs today in continued rapid trading.

Half a dozen or more key issues including AT&T, IBM, New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad traded at 1963-64 highs. The market averages approached historic peaks or exceeded them.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .7 at noon at 290.3, above the closing record established Tuesday. The Dow Jones industrial average was off .13 at 774.36 at noon, falling back from a small morning gain.

A majority of the advances were fractional and many groups displayed an uneven pattern. Volume was running at a speedier pace than Tuesday, the busiest session of the year.

He's semiretired now, working only in the mornings. He still charges only 20 cents a shine and accepts no tips from his 35 or so customers, all bankers.

Today, the bankers will show their appreciation. They'll present a silver water pitcher to the 78-year-old bootblack.

After the presentation, Joe will be back at the same old stand. He said he is "deeply appreciative," but today is "just another day"—And another $7.00 or so.

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Girl Who Came to Supper," found the leading man in her life, Jose Ferrer, had departed for summer climes.

Even the second best man had gone south.

So the hardy few who braved a snowstorm to attend Monday night's performance of the new Broadway play were sent away with apologies.

Ferrer spent the weekend with his wife, Rosemary Clooney, in Puerto Rico, where she's appearing in a night club. He couldn't make it back because the storm closed New York area airports.

Ferrer's stand-in, David Brooks, spent Sunday in Pennsylvania. When his big moment came, he was aboard a snow-bound bus in Bucks County.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Comedian Paul Winchell won dismissal of a contempt of court citation after testifying he did his best to keep up child support payments.
Winchell's former wife, Mrs. Dorothy Ackerman, 40, of Miami Beach, Fla., had complained that Winchell was behind in his $400-a-month payments for their children, Stephanie, 18, and Stacy Paul, 10.

Navy Offers Programs to HS Graduates

James W. Yarrington, local U. S. Navy Recruiting Officer, announced today that high school graduates are being sought for the Navy's Polaris Field Seaman Recruit Program.

Yarrington said "to the man who tries and qualifies for this highly specialized field, the Navy will thoroughly train in the maintenance and operation of the intricate guidance system which delivers the Polaris missile to its target."

The mechanically inclined high school graduate who qualifies for the launcher phase will receive training in the technical skills required to arm and fire the missile, he added.

This program is only one of many offered by the Navy to high school graduates, Yarrington said. After basic training at San Diego, Calif., or Great Lakes, Ill., and a class school in his field, the navy man will be stationed for travel all over the world.

Information concerning the Navy programs may be obtained by contacting the recruiter between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. every Thursday at the Circleville Post Office.

Courses Offered At OU Branch

The Lancaster Branch of Ohio University is offering several courses in education and psychology the second semester of the school year.

Two new education courses not offered previously at the branch will be on the schedule. One, Education 125, is a course required of all holders of non-professional degrees who desire a certificate in elementary education. The class will meet 7 p. m. Thursdays. The second course is Education 422, school finance. This course is required for anyone getting a superintendent's certificate.

Both Psychology 2 and Psychology 103 will be offered. Psychology 1 is a prerequisite for either subject.
More information may be obtained at the Lancaster Branch offices.

U.S.-Panama

the crisis last weekend. The intermediary is expected to be Costa Rica, which was named to handle Panama's affairs in Washington during the break.

The agreement was reached by Edwin M. Martin, President Johnson's special envoy, and Panamanian Foreign Minister Galileo Solis, meeting with the peace committee of the Organization of American States.

At the outset of the OAS-sponsored talks Sunday, Panama had insisted that resumption of diplomatic relations should be preceded by a strong U.S. declaration of intent to review the 903 treaty that the United States perpetual sovereignty over the Canal Zone. The United States reportedly balked at making such a pledge under pressure.

Panama is not expected to call on the United States to get out of the Canal Zone, which cuts the strategic Latin-American country in half. Solis has made clear that Panama is not interested in running the canal. He stressed, however, that his government will seek to reduce the boundaries of the zone, which is 10 miles wide and extends 36 miles from the Caribbean to the Pacific.

Panama also is expected to seek an increase in the $1.9 million the United States pays annually for the use of the canal and greater opportunities for advancement for Panamanians in the Canal Zone Company.

Quiet prevailed along the Canal Zone borders where 21 Panamanians and 3 U.S. soldiers were killed last weekend. The violence stemmed from Panamanian resentment — apparently egged on by pro-Castro Communists — to the defiance by American high school students in the Canal Zone of regulations requiring the joint display of U.S. and Panamanian flags in the zone.

Highways Still Touchy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's road conditions remained about the same today with both primary and secondary highways partly snow-covered with a few slippery spots.

Local State Patrol Post Recaps Activities for 1963

Sgt. S. L. Adomaitis of Circleville's State Highway Patrol Post today noted the number of traffic deaths in the nation in 1963 reached a new high for the second consecutive year.

In recapping the year's activities of the local post, Sgt. Adomaitis asked all area motorists to "do more in '64" for highway safety. He emphasized that every motorist and pedestrian should not only talk safety, but also take an active part in making highways safe.

In patrolling Pickaway and southern Franklin County, OSP cars traveled 413,109 miles during 1963, according to the patrol post head.

Patrol officers investigated 501 accidents, making 303 arrests. They also made 1,872 other traffic arrests during the year.

MISDEMEANOR arrests, including such things as citing a motorist for failure to transfer registration or to have a valid operator's license, totaled 407.

Besides making arrests and investigating accidents, patrolmen operating out of the local post issued 5,040 warnings, and assisted more than 650 motorists whose car had become disabled.

Officers inspected 291 school buses in Pickaway and Franklin Counties and 29 church buses.

The duty roster included, 176 special details, such as making speeches. Officers talked to an estimated 1,809 persons.

The local post received 8,199 telephone calls during the year. Officers answered the personal inquiries of 2,636 persons.

They made 207 safety inspections for the public utilities commission.

THE POST recorded 29 felony arrests made by personnel in Pickaway and Southern Franklin Counties. The unit recovered $26,132 worth of lost or stolen property in the area.

Sgt. Adomaitis noted that a more detailed report of accidents occurring in Pickaway County will be completed soon.

City Board of Education Airs Several Coming Events

Last night's January meeting of the Circleville Board of Education saw much discussion of coming events. But official action by the board was held to a minimum.

The board began mapping plans for the proposed bond issue slated for decision by district voters at the polls in May.

A citizens committee, similar to the one organized prior to November's defeat of a $1,848,000 bond issue, will be formulated. The body will direct its attention toward a pre-election campaign. Committee members and meeting dates are to be arranged later.

Receiving board sanction was the sponsoring of a theater party by the CHS Activities Program as presented by Richard Snuffer, principal.

THE GROUP will sponsor a showing of the cinerama feature, "How The West Was Won" at a Columbus Theater. According to initial plans, more than 500 seats will be reserved for Circleville patrons.

The theater party has been set for Feb. 9, with special rates to people in this area. Tickets will be sold by students.

Glenn Rich, director of elementary and secondary education of the state department, was approved by the board as speaker for CHS's 1964 commencement exercises, pending his acceptance.

Mrs. Elaine Poling, 134 Seyfert Ave., was employed on a half-time basis for first grade work at Nicholas Drive and Atwater to alleviate a problem caused by excessive enrollment in the two areas.

One of several items reviewed by the school board was a testing program developed last year. Superintendent Fritz Jacobs explained the project and presented a report using statistical data of last year's progress.

Consideration was given to the purchase of a new bus for the next school year. It would replace a 1954 model now in use. No action was taken on the matter. The board is awaiting specific information regarding a recent State Board of Education policy as to the purchase of school buses.

A SCHOOL activity program was adopted as recommended by the State Board of Education. The new policy sets down standards for all contests and activities in which students participate.

It defines the various contests and activities and states that none shall be sponsored "Primarily for entertainment purposes." The policy lists regulations concerning travel, organizations sponsoring an activity or contest, financial accounting and participation by students.

Brotherhood Meeting Scheduled Thursday

The Trinity Lutheran Church Brotherhood will meet 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Parish House. Darts will be included on the program. A highlight will be the showing of films of a canoe trip undertaken by Pastor Carl Zehner, James Peters and Ed Cross.

Man to Watch

Although most of the population of the world looks upon the new year as something special, the flip of a page on the calendar by itself seldom influences the course of world affairs. If the individual citizen does gladly turn his back on the old year in anticipation of more fruitful steps toward his personal goals in the 12 months ahead, the direction of history is little affected by a little breath of fresh air.

Witness President De Gaulle. Many observers of NATO, the Common Market and the European scene generally, are united in predicting that 1964 will be a tougher year than 1963 was insofar as European unity is concerned.

Not only has the French president failed in his attempts to align support among Common Market members for his strong independent nuclear stand, but he faces organized opposition within France, as the pot begins to boil in anticipation of the 1965 elections.

De Gaulle is not seriously threatened by the consolidation of various leftist forces behind the socialist mayor of Marseilles, Gaston Deferre, but it is the first time since the formation of the current republic that presidential opposition has begun so early. The election is nearly two years away. If France is unable to enlist support for Gaullist policies among its present economic and military allies on the continent, the ironwilled leader is known to be considering withdrawal from those alliances. The dramatic rise of France's productive capacity and the gradual buildup of a strong economy lend added weight to the belief such a severance of ties might be successful.

Adding fuel, particularly to the troubles within the Common Market, is the prosperity of French farmers. De Gaulle is extremely reluctant to go along with present tariffs on agricultural products much longer. The French farmer would have an export heyday if present restrictions were removed from the market places now served by the less efficient German or Belgian farmers.

This is not exactly a new year present for Western diplomats, but the realists among them have become conditioned over the years to anticipate the worst and be pleasantly surprised when things don't turn out quite that bad.

Star Actor Slow on Marriage

NEW YORK (AP)—If all of Hollywood's eligible bachelors share the sentiments of George Chakiris, it looks like a forlorn Leap Year for America's man-seeking maidens.

"I wouldn't want to spend all my life unmarried, but right now I'm not looking for a wife—I'm not even going steady," said the handsome young actor, who has been a No. 1 matrimonial target since he won an Oscar two years ago.

"I haven't met anyone yet I want to marry," he said.

"Marriage is too serious a thing. It isn't something you just happen to be in the mood for. It's something you have to be sure about, and I don't want to make a mistake."

It isn't that Chakiris, who recently returned from England after completing his sixth film, hasn't given the possibility deep consideration. At 29 he has thought a great deal about marriage—and divorce.

"Let's face it—life is not a novelty. It's too precious to fool around with. You can't take it lightly," he said.

"It is very difficult for two people to live a long life together harmoniously. I don't mean just being amiable to each other. I want more than amiability in marriage."

"I also feel that for a marriage to be truly successful—not just a nice arrangement—it has to be the most important thing in the life of both persons. If anything else becomes more important, even a career, the marriage will falter in meaning."

Although he has a quick sense of humor, Chakiris is a sensitive, self-questioning man who is less impressed than his fan with his relatively quick rise to stardom. He wants to succeed as a many-faceted performer—a singer, a dancer, an actor.

He is one of seven children, and his father—Chakiris is of Greek descent—had a hard time making a living for them by operating a restaurant, running a small produce firm, and driving a laundry truck.

Chakiris is well aware of the quicksand perils of the entertainment world, and how they can cause one to lose his values.

"Things are always changing in this business," he said. "You're dealing fundamentally with fickleness."

Success doesn't seem likely to spoil George Chakiris. He is one young actor who doesn't depend on his press clippings to tell him who he really is.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—Washington is talking up another gap between the United States and the Soviet Union. This one is economic.

And the Central Intelligence Agency says that the gap between the two economies is much wider and more to our advantage than many Americans had been led to believe.

The CIA view is that the Soviet economy is badly in need of assistance from the West and largely on a credit basis.

Many American businessmen have industrial goods they'd like to sell the Soviets, if Washington permitted; and many consumer items they'd like to sell, if Moscow would allow it. But the CIA adds that Moscow hasn't as much gold to pay for such trade as had generally been assumed.

Previously Americans have worried about a possible missile gap, but of late have been assured that U.S. defenses are far ahead.

U.S. trade with the Soviet Union is currently being increased by contracts for sale of surplus wheat and other grains. Otherwise it doesn't amount to much, either in volume or in percentage of U.S. foreign trade.

Western Europe's trade with the East is larger. And it is growing, despite the frowns of Washington on some of the items the West is furnishing. In return, Europe is taking Soviet oil, to the distress of American oil companies and of State Department officials who see it as beefing up a faltering Communist economy. The Soviet Union will soon have a pipeline delivering its oil to the edge of the Iron Curtain.

The comforting word on how much better the American economy is doing than the Soviet's is spelled out in figures by the CIA. It says that in the last two years the Soviet economic growth has been less than 2.5 per cent annually.

Despite all the worrying about it, the U.S. economic growth has been well above that and currently is put as high as 5 per cent on an annual basis.

Moscow's gold reserves go unreported officially. American experts have estimated them as high as $4 billion. But the CIA says they've fallen below $2 billion since Moscow started selling in volume to raise foreign currency for purchase of wheat and other needed commodities.

American businessmen regard the CIA estimates as largely aimed at trying to discourage Europeans from extending credit to the hard-pressed Communists. But they also see it as perhaps a foreshadowing of future refusals of Washington to permit extended trade here with the Soviets, who might be wanting chemical plants or fertilizer among other things.

In 1962 our exports to the U.S.S.R. totaled $15.3 million out of $20.5 billion for all exports; and imports $16.2 million out of $16.1 billion. The wheat deals will raise the figures this year.

But businessmen hoping to follow up the wheat exports with sales of more American goods apparently will still face tough Washington restrictions on just what can be sold, and discouragement on granting credit.

Letter To The Editor

EDITORS NOTE—We welcome letters to the editor. They must be signed by the writer with a complete return address. However the name and address will not be used in the published letter upon request of the writer. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

To the Editor:
This letter concerns the Farm Roundup story titled "Ohio Farmer Sure of One Thing: Change," in the Jan. 6 issue.

How much longer can you stand to publish and expect the farmer to read and believe such unfounded statements as the last paragraph of this article?

Source of the story is Raymond R. Casey, the Ohio Farm Bureau's assistant director of market development and research.

First he urges farmers to follow the advice of Bernard Baruch who defines good management as "thinking ahead, thinking through and thinking whole."

The last paragraph reads: "In one respect, the farmer is the most fortunate businessman in the United States. He has near at hand the help of his cooperatives, farm organizations and government agencies, all of whom are anxious to see the farmer succeed in his business operations."

In my opinion, based on USDA facts, the farmers are the most mistreated, ill-used and misinformed people in our country.

If we have any more of these wonderful cooperatives, farm organizations and government agencies, of which he speaks, working for the farmers in the future as they have these past years, there will be no family type farmers left in our country.

How can any straight and sincere thinking individual, be he farmer or city man, keep hearing this false propaganda of how these groups are helping the farmers and then sit and watch the farmer's economic conditions grow worse each year? The farmer's economy is the controlling factor in the economy of the whole world.

We have been relying on these groups all this time to help and guide us through legislative farm policies. Most of the time this help has only been an interference in the farmer's selling of his products.

How can a cooperative save us money when it is in business for itself, buying and selling at a profit? Don't tell me the stockholders get the profit. I have some of this stock and I might add in my opinion it isn't worth any more than the paper it is written on.

I agree these groups are all helping us—"right out of the farming business."

I am a Farm Bureau member and secretary of one of the Pickaway County Advisory Councils.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A VENTRILOQUIST weekendend at a small combination farm-and-hotel in the Catskills, and discovering the owner in the act of milking his cows, decided to have some fun. He asked the cow being milked, "How many pails have you given today, Bossie?" The cow answered, "Four pails so far." The owner practically fell off his stool. "What are you doing this evening?" the ventriloquist asked the next cow. The answer was, "I'm hoping that bull on the Aswell Farm will phone me."

At this the bug-eyed owner made a dive for the veranda of the hotel and announced hysterically to his guests, "That city slicker who checked in here last night has got the cows talking—and I want to tell you now that if any of them says I'm watering the milk it's a gol-darned lie."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Some time ago, you wrote about coronary heart disease in one of your columns. Please write about it once more because I would like to know if I can again live a normal life after a heart attack. I am actually afraid to walk down the six steps from the front porch. I can't control being afraid to do anything.

A.J.K., Ontario

Dear Mr. K.: Your problem is so similar to that of many who have been afflicted by heart attacks that it is worth repetition if it offers some support.

There are many thousands of people who have satisfactorily recovered from coronary heart disease and other heart attacks. Yet, despite the fact that they have been pronounced cured, they seem to live in terror and dread of having another attack.

When someone has had a heart attack and has been treated sufficiently and has been treated for the period of time established by his doctor, recovery can often be said to be complete.

When activity is again allowed by the physician, the heart can usually be considered healthy enough to bear the burden and stress of controlled exertion.

It is unfortunate that so many people remain "cardiac invalids" long after their heart muscles have returned to normal. In their fear, these people pattern their lives as if they were slated for imminent destruction.

By their own false standards, they continue to be "heartsick." Not until the heart victim can again take his place, free of this fear, in his home and in his job, can he be considered totally rehabilitated. When the limitations established by your doctor are adhered to, you and all cardiacs can again be returned to the lives of healthy, happy human beings.

A discussion in our home recently centered on the difference between fear and anxiety. Neither my husband nor I could explain it satisfactorily. Please clarify it for us.

Mrs. R. T., New York

Dear Mrs. T.: Fear is a response of the body to an external threat. An oncoming automobile or a menacing situation provokes fear, and quick-

Barry's Strength, Weakness

By John Chamberlain

HARTFORD, Conn. — One of the leaders in the Goldwater movement in the State of Connecticut is Ben W. Gilmore, who lives in Enfield, a small town just over the border from Springfield, Mass. Actually Ben Gilmore is not a New Englander. He was born in Corpus Christi, Texas, and his present employer is the Cameron Iron Works of Houston, Texas, for whom he "peddles iron" throughout the Northeast. Ben can slip back into his native southwestern drawl at will, and can give a most convincing imitation of Lyndon Johnson, sub. But when he is talking to a New England group, whether about business or politics, Ben is brisk as any Yankee.

Ben is important because he is a living example of what gives the Goldwater movement its strength, which derives wholly from a seep, that is outside politics, professionally considered. Before the Goldwater movement in Connecticut was made official a few days ago in Hartford by the formation of a committee under Newman Marsilius, a Bridgeport industrialist who has proved his potency by knocking the State Republican Party indebtedness from $196,000 to $25,000 in a few months, Ben Gilmore's efforts were wholly amateur. He went about the State organizing Goldwater clubs among housewives, carpenters, small professional men and business men distributing copies of Barry Goldwater's credo, "The Conscience of a Conservative," and collecting dollar membership fees for the relatively amateur Draft Goldwater Committee. He has now joined Marsilius, at last becoming a pro.

The thing that attracted Ben Gilmore, the iron peddler, to Goldwater was the man's conservative philosophy, not his official Republicanism. Ben had read "The Conscience of a Conservative," and was convinced. One of the passages he likes particularly to cite is one in which the Arizona Senator declares what amounts to war on his own tribe of professional politicians.

"The turn will come," so Goldwater wrote in "The Conscience of a Conservative," "when we entrust the conduct of our affairs to men who understand that their first duty as public officials is to divest themselves of the power they have been given."

Now, when an aspirant to high political office campaigns on a platform of "divestment of power," he is certain to alienate the party professional whose main reason for being is to gather more power to the end of making himself seem indispensable to the voters. Surely Ray Bliss of Ohio, Searle Pinney of Connecticut, and other high party functionaries throughout the northeastern quadrant of the United States, who have been assiduous in preventing any premature jump to Goldwater, are partly activated by distrust of a man who could be so contemptuous of political power as such.

Before the assassination of John F. Kennedy, the extra-political seepage of Goldwaterism at the grass roots was searing the political pros into forgetting the passage in "The Conscience of a Conservative" that had declared them expendable. The question, now, is whether the grass roots seepage can pick up a momentum that was lost on that fateful day in November. The pros in the Northeast will do nothing for Barry Goldwater unless they are convinced that the grassroots sentiment is something they cannot afford to ignore.

Goldwater's declaration of war on the power-seeking political pro is not the only thing that is working against him. Another thing is his sense of humor. "Gentlemen," he said not so long ago to a group of supporters, "I'm flattered that you thought of my name. I have every confidence that, with all of you behind me, I could be another Alf Landon." He also promised to make Linus Pauling, the anti-bomb Nobel Peace Prize winner, he Secretary of Defense. "I figure," he said, "if we give Pauling three weeks on the job he'll give us a defense without going to the expense of nuclear weapons, or bomb shelters, or anything else. That would save us about 60 billion dollars right there."

The ability to laugh both at himself and at the species he represents will get Goldwater no place if the grassroots slackens off in its love for the anti-political politico. The fate of Barry Goldwater still rests with the ability of "iron peddlers," like Ben Gilmore to get the movement running hard down the track.

Letter To The Editor

EDITORS NOTE—We welcome letters to the editor. They must be signed by the writer with a complete return address. However the name and address will not be used in the published letter upon request of the writer. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

To the Editor:

This letter concerns the Farm Roundup story titled "Ohio Farmer Sure of One Thing: Change," in the Jan. 6 issue.

How much longer can you stand to publish and expect the farmer to read and believe such unfounded statements as the last paragraph of this article?

Source of the story is Raymond R. Casey, the Ohio Farm Bureau's assistant director of market development and research.

First he urges farmers to follow the advice of Bernard Baruch who defines good management as "thinking ahead, thinking through and thinking whole."

The last paragraph reads: "In one respect, the farmer is the most fortunate businessman in the United States. He has near at hand the help of his cooperatives, farm organizations and government agencies, all of whom are anxious to see the farmer succeed in his business operations."

In my opinion, based on USDA facts, the farmers are the most mistreated, ill-used and misinformed people in our country.

If we have any more of these wonderful cooperatives, farm organizations and government agencies, of which he speaks, working for the farmers in the future as they have these past years, there will be no family type farmers left in our country.

How can any straight and sincere thinking individual, be a farmer or city man, keep hearing this false propaganda of how these groups are helping the farmers and then sit and watch the farmer's economic conditions grow worse each year? The farmer's economy is the controlling factor in the economy of the whole world.

We have been relying on these groups all this time to help and guide us through legislative farm policies. Most of the time this help has only been an interference in the farmer's selling of his products.

How can a cooperative save us money when it is in business for itself, buying and selling at a profit? Don't tell me the stockholders get the profit. I have some of this stock and I might add in my opinion it isn't worth any more than the paper it is written on.

I agree these groups are all helping us — "right out of the farming business."

I am a Farm Bureau member and secretary of one of the Pickaway County Advisory Councils.

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—More than 100 girls in this area are now professional babysitters, after graduating from a two-month course sponsored by the Valley Center Jaycee.

Speakers for the classes included fire department officials, physicians, teachers, Kansas Highway patrolmen and mothers' panels.

The program covered emergencies, safety, control and entertainment of children, and a final test was given. Upon graduation the girls received billfold identification cards and their names and telephone numbers are listed in a directory for distribution in this area.

"I like it so far."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A VENTRILOQUIST weekendend at a small combination farm-and-hotel in the Catskills, and discovering the owner in the act of milking his cows, decided to have some fun. He asked the cow being milked, "How many pails have you given to-day, Bossie?" The cow answered, "Four pails so far." The owner practically fell off his stool. "What are you doing this evening?" the ventriloquist asked the next cow. The answer was, "I'm hoping that bull on the Aswell Farm will phone me."

At this the bug-eyed owner made a dive for the veranda of the hotel and announced hysterically to his guests, "That city slicker who checked in here last night has got the cows talking—and I want to tell you now that if any of them says I'm watering the milk it's a gol-darned lie."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Some time ago, you wrote about coronary heart disease in one of your columns. Please write about it once more because I would like to know if I can again live a normal life after a heart attack. I am actually afraid to walk down the six steps from the front porch. I can't control being afraid to do anything.

A.J.K., Ontario

Dear Mr. K.: Your problem is so similar to that of many who have been afflicted by heart attacks that it is worth repetition if it offers some support.

There are many thousands of people who have satisfactorily recovered from coronary heart disease and other heart attacks. Yet, despite the fact that they have been pronounced cured, they seem to live in terror and dread of having another attack.

When someone has had a heart attack and has rested sufficiently and has been treated for the period of time established by his doctor, recovery can often be said to be complete.

When activity is again allowed by the physician, the heart can usually be considered healthy enough to bear the burden and stress of controlled exertion.

It is unfortunate that so many people remain "cardiac invalids" long after their heart muscles have returned to normal. In their fear, these people pattern their lives as if they were slated for imminent destruction.

By their own false standards, they continue to be "heartsick." Not until the heart victim can again take his place, free of this fear, in his home and in his job, can he be considered totally rehabilitated. When the limitations established by your doctor are adhered to, you and all cardiacs can again be returned to the lives of healthy, happy human beings.

A discussion in our home recently centered on the difference between fear and anxiety. Neither my husband nor I could explain it satisfactorily. Please clarify it for us.

Mrs. R. T., New York

Dear Mrs. T.: Fear is a response of the body to an external threat. An oncoming automobile or a menacing situation provokes fear, and quickly alerts the body and places it on guard.

This is an immediate defense reaction. Adrenalin, other hormones, and blood sugar are poured into the blood stream to activate the muscles, the brainpower and the inner resources against impending stress.

These valuable forces are quickly accumulated and the body's decision is established either for fight or flight. Thus, the external threat is parried, controlled, and the body defended.

Anxiety arises from a vague, indefinable internal threat. Inner tensions and baseless fears activate terrorizing "attacks" from unknown sources. The same defense reactions may occur in the blood stream as with fear, but the actual defenses seem to be inadequate. Bodily disorders are frequently associated with these purposeless bursts of unexplained terror.

When episodes of anxiety repeatedly occur, specialized help must be sought without a feeling of shame or stigma, for many people have been reduced to chronic emotional invalidism by the failure to seek help.

With guidance and with clarification of their emotional problems, many more have been completely relieved of their distressing anxieties.

By John Chamberlain

HARTFORD, Conn. — One of the leaders in the Goldwater movement in the State of Connecticut is Ben W. Gilmore, who lives in Enfield, a small town just over the border from Springfield, Mass. Actually Ben Gilmore is not a New Englander. He was born in Corpus Christi, Texas, and his present employer is the Cameron Iron Works of Houston, Texas, for whom he "peddles iron" throughout the Northeast. Ben can slip back into his native southwestern drawl at will, and can give a most convincing imitation of Lyndon Johnson, suh. But when he is talking to a New England group, whether about business or politics, Ben is brisk as any Yankee.

Ben is important because he is a living example of what gives the Goldwater movement its strength, which derives wholly from a seep that is outside politics, professionally considered. Before the Goldwater movement in Connecticut was made official a few days ago in Hartford by the formation of a committee under Newman Marsilius, a Bridgeport industrialist who has proved his potency by knocking the State Republican Party indebtedness from $196,000 to $25,000 in a few months, Ben Gilmore's efforts were wholly amateur. He went about the State organizing Goldwater clubs among housewives, carpenters, small professional men and business men distributing copies of Barry Goldwater's credo, "The Conscience of a Conservative," and collecting dollar membership fees for the relatively amateur Draft Goldwater Committee. He has now joined Marsilius, at last becoming a pro.

The thing that attracted Ben Gilmore, the iron peddler, to Goldwater was the man's conservative philosophy, not his official Republicanism. Ben had read "The Conscience of a Conservative," and was convinced. One of the passages he likes particularly to cite is one in which the Arizona Senator declares what amounts to war on his own tribe of professional politicians.

"The turn will come," so Goldwater wrote in "The Conscience of a Conservative," "when we entrust the conduct of our affairs to men who understand that their first duty as public officials is to divest themselves of the power they have been given."

Now, when an aspirant to high political office campaigns on a platform of "divestment of power," he is certain to alienate the party professional whose main reason for being is to gather more power to the end of making himself seem indispensable to the voters. Surely Ray Bliss of Ohio, Searle Pimney of Connecticut, and other high party functionaries throughout the northeastern quadrant of the United States, who have been assiduous in preventing any premature jump to Goldwater, are partly activated by distrust of a man who could be so contemptuous of political power as such.

Before the assassination of John F. Kennedy, the extra-political seepage of Goldwaterism at the grass roots was scaring the political pros into forgetting the passage in "The Conscience of a Conservative" that had declared them expendable. The question, now, is whether the grass roots seepage can pick up a momentum that was lost on that fateful day in November. The pros in the Northeast will do nothing for Barry Goldwater unless they are convinced that the grassroots sentiment is something they cannot afford to ignore.

Goldwater's declaration of war on the power-seeking political pro is not the only thing that is working against him. Another thing is his sense of humor. "Gentlemen," he said not so long ago to a group of supporters, "I'm flattered that you thought of my name. I have every confidence that, with all of you behind me, I could be another Alf Landon." He also promised to make Linus Pauling, the anti-bomb Nobel Peace Prize winner, he Secretary of Defense. "I figure," he said, "if we give Pauling three weeks on the job he'll give us a defense without going to the expense of nuclear weapons, or bomb shelters, or anything else. That would save us about 60 billion dollars right there."

The ability to laugh both at himself and at the species he represents will get Goldwater no place if the grassroots slackens off in its love for the anti-political politico. The fate of Barry Goldwater still rests with the ability of "iron peddlers," like Ben Gilmore to get the movement running hard down the track.

Goldwater's declaration of war on the power-seeking politi-

Lush Success Separates Egyptian Actor and Wife

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Egyptian actor Omar Sharif and his movie star wife, Faten Hamama, have a design for living. That is, if you can call it living when a married couple resides 7,000 miles apart. The situation: Omar is the sleekly handsome star of Egyptian films who scored an international hit and an Academy nomination as Peter O'Toole's desert buddy in "Lawrence of Arabia." In so doing, he priced himself out of the Arabic market.

Miss Hamama remains in Cairo to care for their 7-year-old son and her Cairo career. "She has been in films for 24 years—ever since she was 7," explained Sharif. "She enjoys that life, and it would be wrong to ask her to leave."

"On the other hand, it would be impossible for me to return to films in Egypt. I've already had one good picture in the international market, and I've just made another—'Behold a Pale Horse' with Gregory Peck and Anthony Quinn. Now it is important for me to make one more good picture, and I would like to make it in Hollywood."

"I think I will be able to, because I have my choice of a number of good scripts. Picking the right one is the only problem; it is difficult to make a choice after working with such good directors as David Lean and Fred Zinnemann."

"If I can get this third good movie, then I will be able to spend more time in Cairo. But in the meantime my wife and I will have to live in different parts of the world."

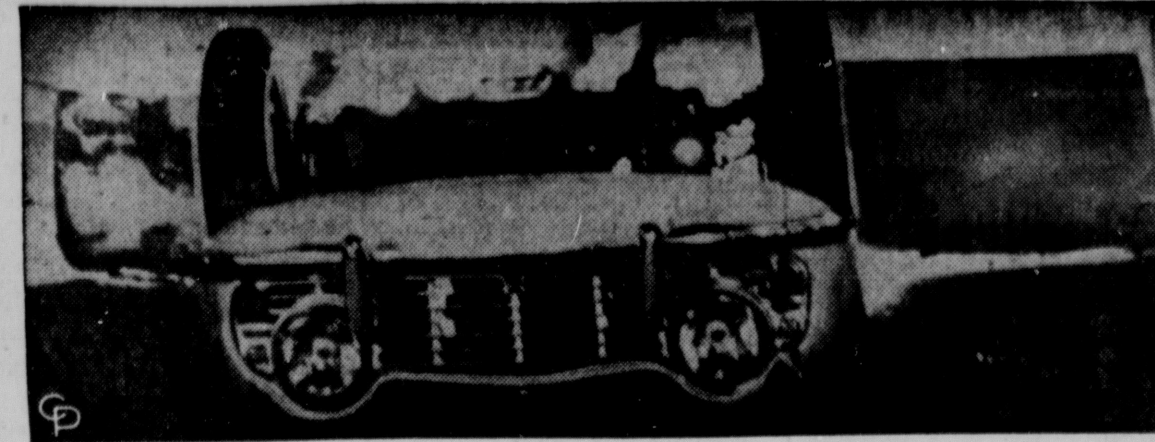

It wasn't so bad when he was working in Europe, he said. Then his wife could join him for a month or so. But Cairo to California is more of a jump.

Besides establishing his international reputation, work in Hollywood would help fatten the family fortunes. He has yet to haul in the really top money.

King-Sized Ohio Criminal Is Recaptured

OKLAHOMA City (AP) — A king-sized criminal with a penchant for jail-breaking and, police charge, for holding up supermarkets is in custody here while authorities in Ohio, Georgia and perhaps elsewhere await their turn at him.

The prisoner is 6-foot-11 Emmett Ray McCarthy, 35. He escaped from a Georgia prison last Sept. 11, then turned up in Ohio where he was captured following a discount store robbery in the Dayton area. McCarthy and a brother were caught in Greene County after holding a family at gunpoint in their home as officers closed in.

On Dec. 4, McCarthy escaped jail at Dayton after persuading a trustee to smuggle him a gun. He was arrested here Monday.

According to police, McCarthy faces charges of armed robbery in the Oct. 2 holdup of a supermarket here.

While he was held in Dayton, police in Columbus and other Ohio cities accused him of supermarket robberies in their bailiwick.

With What?

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP)—Jerry Bergstrand, 19, of Rawlins, escaped serious injury recently when his car collided head-on with a washing machine.

Investigating officers said vandals had taken the old washing machine from a nearby signboard and placed it on the highway near Rawlins.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 15, the 15th day of 1964. There are 351 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1936, the Japanese delegation withdrew from the five-power Naval conference in London. The action followed refusal of the other nations to grant Japan naval parity.

On this date: In 1751, the first Georgia provincial assembly met at Savannah.

In 1831, the first locomotive for regular service built in the United States, and named "The Best Friend of Charleston," had its trial run.

In 1919, the famous concert pianist, Ignace Jan Paderewski, became Poland's first prime minister.

In 1929, the United States Senate ratified the Kellogg-Briand Pact outlawing war.

In 1946, the U.S. Agriculture Department asked the nation's farmers to plant about 10 more acres than they had planted the previous year in order to achieve higher crop production.

Ten years ago—Twenty persons were injured as a $3 million dollar fire swept three dockhouses on the Brooklyn, N.Y. waterfront.

Five years ago—Rebel Leader Fidel Castro said Cuba desired good relations with the United States.

One year ago — President

Moise Tshombe declared his willingness to renounce Katanga's secession and permit United Nations forces to move freely within the province.

MAY FILL VACANCIES—Rep. Joel T. Broyhill (left), R-Va., an ardent foe of the administration's medicare proposal, is being considered to fill a death-opened Republican vacancy on the House Ways and Means Committee. Rep. George M. Rhodes (right), D-Pa., is being considered to fill a Democrat vacancy on the same committee, also caused by a death. He supports the medicare measure.

BREAST SIZE AFTER CHILDBIRTH

Q. After my first child was born my breasts decreased in size and firmness. Is there any way to restore them to normal?

A. A reduction in breast size and firmness is not uncommon following childbirth. Why this occurs isn't known and there is no effective treatment. Although the breasts can not be appreciably altered, certain exercises do help. For example, the chest muscles can be developed by performing push-ups, thus adding bulk to the chest. This, plus an adequate brassiere, is responsible for the "bosomy" appearance of some women athletes, such as circus performers, who actually may have very small breasts.

UNDERDEVELOPED BOY

Q. My 14-year-old son has wide hips and other feminine characteristics. He is definitely underdeveloped. Should he be treated now or will he develop later on?

A. The decision to treat or not to treat a boy who is late in developing can only be made by a physician. There are great variations in normal time and rate of maturing. Your son should, of course, have a check-up at this time. After a thorough evaluation, the doctor will decide on the proper course to follow.

Remember — the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

MAY FILL VACANCIES—Rep. Joel T. Broyhill (left), R-Va., an ardent foe of the administration's medicare proposal, is being considered to fill a death-opened Republican vacancy on the House Ways and Means Committee. Rep. George M. Rhodes (right), D-Pa., is being considered to fill a Democrat vacancy on the same committee, also caused by a death. He supports the medicare measure.

BREAST SIZE AFTER CHILDBIRTH

Q. After my first child was born my breasts decreased in size and firmness. Is there any way to restore them to normal?

A. A reduction in breast size and firmness is not uncommon following childbirth. Why this occurs isn't known and there is no effective treatment. Although the breasts can not be appreciably altered, certain exercises do help. For example, the chest muscles can be developed by performing push-ups, thus adding bulk to the chest. This, plus an adequate brassiere, is responsible for the "bosomy" appearance of some women athletes, such as circus performers, who actually may have very small breasts.

UNDERDEVELOPED BOY

Q. My 14-year-old son has wide hips and other feminine characteristics. He is definitely underdeveloped. Should he be treated now or will he develop later on?

A. The decision to treat or not to treat a boy who is late in developing can only be made by a physician. There are great variations in normal time and rate of maturing. Your son should, of course, have a check-up at this time. After a thorough evaluation, the doctor will decide on the proper course to follow.

Remember — the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

Dear Abby:

by Abigail Van Buren

Shopper's Blues!

DEAR ABBY: I am a man past the age of love problems, but here is another problem. Each time I go downtown to shop for underwear I find it very embarrassing to be confronted with females in the men's underwear department. I cannot figure out why department stores put female clerks in that department. I am sure no lady would care to have a man wait on HER in the ladies' underwear department. I have walked out of more department stores without buying anything for that reason. Please answer this if you can.

DEAR NO: The reason women clerks are placed in the men's underwear department is because approximately 90 percent (it's a guess, but I'll bet it's a good one) of all the men's underwear sold in department stores is sold TO women for men. Most men couldn't tell you the size of their shorts, socks or pajamas. If I'm wrong, send me your size and I'll shop for you.

DEAR ABBY: I need an answer as soon as possible. My husband is a truck driver and he does most of his work out of town. His mother called and told me he had a girl friend. She said someone had told her, but she couldn't tell me who. She also made me promise that if I told my husband about it I would keep her name out of it. If I ask my husband, should I tell him who told me? He has always been so good to me and I never had reason to doubt his loyalty. I am so upset I can't treat him as I should. What should I do?

UPSET
DEAR UPSET: Tell your mother-in-law that as far as you are concerned, your husband is lily white, and unless she can come up with names, dates and pictures you aren't interested in second-hand reports. Then forget it.

DEAR ABBY: Your column in the Register-Guard in Eugene Oregon, is read to me daily as I am blind. About the lady who wrote to Sears for a Do-It-Yourself Dental kit, and Sears took it as a joke: I agree, Abby, that dentistry takes skill, but no order should be laughed at. I happen to know that many years ago a man from Buxton, Oregon, wrote to the Seattle Sears for a wife—and he got her! This young widower filled out an order blank for fun in the presence of some friends at the request of his young son who wanted a "Mommy." They mailed it, and when the "order" arrived, the clerk who got it asked if anyone there could fill it. A little widow, who was the mother of a small daughter, said she'd go if he would send the fare. So Sears informed the man in Buxton. He sent the fare to see what she looked like, she made the trip, and they lived as happily ever after as any other couple.

Five Points WCTU Plans Annual Tea

The Five Points WCTU met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Herman Porter with ten members present. Tentative plans were made for the annual Frances Willard Tea to be held next month at Monroe School.

Mrs. Francis Furniss, president opened the meeting with group singing of, "This is My Father's World" and for devotionals used as the theme, "Now Is The Time." Mrs. Loring Steer read Scripture from Joshua 24:14-18 followed by meditations and prayer.

Mrs. Shirley Anderson, secretary, and Mrs. Porter, treasurer, reported. A letter was read from Miss Mary L. Harpster, county president, and Mrs. Harry Dick thanked the group for the cheer card she received last month. A card was signed for Miss Alice Weaver, County treasurer, who has been ill at the home of a sister in Dayton.

Miss Laura Long read about the crusader of the month, Mrs. George Carpenter, and Mrs. Arthur Winfough read "Our Field Government."

Mrs. Ernest Sheets, Mrs. Harry Dick, Mrs. Clark McCafferty and Mrs. Porter gave readings and the study book "Gambling and the Church" was reviewed and discussed. The meeting closed with the benediction and refreshments were served by Mrs. Porter assisted by Mrs. Shirley Anderson.

Mrs. Kurtz Conducts Class Meet

The Dorr Class of the First Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Marjorie Konkle. Trudy Thompson was co-hostess.

CLEANING CAMPAIGN — Reorganize the linen closet by emptying shelves and then wipe down with a good cleaner. Clean and deodorize in one operation.

Give Linen Closet Neat Bright Look

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

If you're turning over a new leaf and starting the year with a cleaning campaign, exhibit some linen closet logic. To keep supplies in order, file 'em neatly.

Begin the reorganization of the linen closet by emptying it completely. Wipe down bare shelves with a good pine cleaner which will disinfect, clean and deodorize in one operation.

Next, line shelves with paper, securing it with strips of colored plastic tape. In addition to anchoring the paper, the tape will add a bright accent. It can also serve as a color code to closet contents.

For example, a strip of blue tape can mark the stack of twin-sheet shelves; red for double-sheet sheets; yellow for fitted, etc.

For a double check, tape a chart on the inside of the closet door which lists the color key and the number of sheets you own in various sizes.

Small items, such as face cloths, guest towels and pillowcases are most efficiently filed in boxes. If you have any remaining from Christmas, pick and choose those of proper size to suit storage needs.

A small hat box, for example, is ideal for face cloths. They can be arranged in the box in two stacks.

Generally speaking, deep, narrow boxes will serve your needs best, utilizing the space between shelves but occupying a minimum of actual space on a shelf.

Large bulky items — summer blankets, extra mattress pads or spreads — can go in flat boxes on the top shelf. For a decorative touch, this top storage shelf can be concealed from view by a cafe curtain.

While you're cleaning the closet, make out a shopping list.

January is the month of white sales so, if you're short on such supplies, now is the time to stock up. At sale prices, big savings can be made.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

DIRKSEN FORMULA: Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois has come up with the "Dirksen formula" for alerting American taxpayers that it is "their dough" Congress spends.

It will take the form of an amendment which he said he will offer to all future authorization and appropriations bills to spell out that the money is to be spent "from the funds supplied by the taxpayers."

CIGARETTE ADS: Chairman Paul Rand Dixon says the Federal Trade Commission has made no major decision on whether it will take action with regard to cigarette advertising. The New York Times published a story Tuesday which said the commission hopes to get the cigarette industry to change the whole tone of its advertising.

Dixon said an FTC task force was studying the question but he didn't know when it would complete its work.

FOREIGN AID: No new deadline has been set for the report by President Johnson's special foreign aid study committee — originally scheduled for Wednesday.

Although no reason was given for the delay, some members, including Undersecretary of State George W. Ball and Thomas C. Mann, assistant secretary of state for Inter-American affairs, have been busy in recent days with the Panama crisis.

SCIENCE ADVISER: President Johnson has nominated Dr. Donald F. Hornig, formerly professor of chemistry at Princeton University, as director of the Office of Science and Technology.

NEWS CONFERENCES: Republican Rep. Frank Horton of New York wants to know why President Johnson has held no televised news conferences.

In the House speech Tuesday Horton said he was concerned about a "news blackout at the White House." He said the American people were anxious to assess their new leader in televised news conferences such as were held by the late President John F. Kennedy.

Johnson said Dec. 18 he planned to vary his news conferences and that some would be televised.

'Toy' for Scientists

HONOLULU (AP)—U. S. Geological Survey scientists at the Volcano Observatory, Hawaii Island, are as happy as children in a toyshop with their new backyard "laboratory"—a 50-foot-deep lava lake.

The lake, formed Aug. 22-23 when a million cubic yards of lava spewed into the floor of an old pit crater near the observatory, has yielded the highest temperature actually recorded in a lava bed — 1,123 degrees centigrade.

U. S. scientists and volcanologists from Japan have started related programs which they hope will tell them a little more about volcanoes.

Hawaii Island is 200 miles southeast of Honolulu, and is the site of one of the world's most restless volcanoes.

Metal Industry Eyes Price Hike

NEW YORK (AP)—A price-rising trend closer than usual to the consumer's pocketbook is spreading in the metals industries.

It is tied to the general business upswing. And in large part the pattern is one of price increase on finished products in across-the-board hikes or increases on basic metal to which the consumer pays little heed.

For the producers and fabricators of steel, aluminum and other metals the price question is still a touchy one. There's a lot of competition, the traditional hazard for price rise moves. And there's always the question of consumer acceptance—that is, a change in the consumer's present attitude of free spending if goods should come to seem too expensive. Such a change could curb the business upswing, already a venerable one.

The new look to price rises was given last year by the steel industry. It made selective increases, carefully choosing those products for which the demand was strong and the competition from other materials less of a threat. In most cases the increases stuck. And the Kennedy administration accepted the principle of selectivity, whereas an across-the-board increase had been squashed a year before.

Now the aluminum producers are starting to form a product price list that turned soft two years ago. They also are working at the finished goods end, rather than at another general rise in aluminum ingot. Such an increase, a small one, was made last October. But a later attempt for a second ingot price boost failed.

Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp., Oakland, Calif., announced a rise of one cent a pound in ingot prices in December, but backed down when Aluminum Co. of America refused to go along.

Now Alcoa is raising the price on hundreds of high-volume sheet and plate products up to two cents a pound. Increased operating costs and skimpy returns on investment are given as the reasons.

Sheet and plates account for about 45 per cent of all fabricated aluminum products. Demand increased smartly last fall.

69 Highway Patrolmen To Be Promoted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Mass promotion of 69 state highway patrolmen got full approval Tuesday of Wayne Ward, state director of personnel.

Highway Safety Director Warren C. Nelson said with Ward's approval he will elevate the men to corporal by March 1.

The mass upgrading is in line with recommendations of the Little Hoover Commission.

Patrol Supt. Anson B. Cook had pointed out that on many days patrol posts around the state have no supervisor. The Little Hoover commission had frowned on that fact.

PATROL Maj. Robert M. Charamonte said 66 men left the patrol in 1963, a record high number. Patrolmen doing supervisory work without the pay and rank of officers is a major cause of the retirements, he said.

The pay scale of patrolmen is $400 - 480 a month; corporals are paid $440-$525 a month.

BECOMING A STEADY CUSTOMER—For the fourth time in three years, a driverless truck crashed into the front window of a bank on a hill in Washington. All four trucks had been parked on the hill as their drivers made deliveries to a nearby market, and each time the truck's brakes failed. No one has been injured.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fidel Castro has been boss of Cuba five years this month. How is he doing? He is still there and still a pain in the neck to the United States, and a big embarrassment.

This noisy and flamboyant man is probably a pain to the Russians, too, but an expensive pain. The help they're giving him costs a pretty penny but they hardly dare stop, no matter how much they wish they could.

Louisiana Winner Mum On Electors

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Leaders of the free elector movement in neighboring Southern states have cheered the nomination of John McKeithen as Democratic nominee for governor of Louisiana.

But McKeithen has left the door open as to whether he'll join the unpledged elector drive or support the national party nominee for president.

McKeithen, 45, schooled in politics by the late Gov. Earl K. Long, owes much of his success in last Saturday's runoff to sharp criticism of "federal intervention" and charges that his opponent, deLesseps S. Morrison, made a deal for a Negro bloc vote.

In hailing McKeithen's nomination, Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi said opposition to federal intervention was the principle which gave strength to "our free, unpledged elector movement."

Barnett and Gov. George Wallace of Alabama are leading the drive for unpledged Southern electors.

ON THE OTHER HAND . . .—Joseph Vlau, 81, blows a cloud of smoke in Ottawa, Ont., and says he definitely is not going to quit smoking. He's been at it for 69 years and his doctor says he's in good health. But in Nashville, Tenn., Vanderbilt coed Jan Terry puts a match to a pack of cigarettes, a habit she kicked "a long time ago" because of "Dad," U.S. Surgeon General Luther Terry, who quit recently.

Community Rallies To Aid Family Struck by Tragedy

WHEATON, Ill. (AP) — When an early-morning fire destroyed the William Rodgers home Friday, killing a son and daughter and injuring four other members of the family of nine, the tragedy touched the hearts of hundreds of persons.

Many persons telephoned the College Church in Wheaton which the Rodgers family attended, asking: "How can I help?"

Rodgers, 46; his wife, Emily, 45; and their sons, James, 13, and Joel, 5, were in a hospital suffering from burns and cuts and frostbite suffered when they fled the blazing two-story home. His daughter, Cynthia, 17, and son, Robert, 11, were dead. The three other children were sheltered in the homes of friends.

Rodgers is a free lance commercial artist. In addition to the deep personal tragedy, the fire meant the loss of the family home, its furnishings and the immediate means of support. Rodgers maintained an art studio in the home and had lost all his working tools and some finished work.

The offers of help included cash donations, home furnishings and four empty homes available rent free for immediate occupancy.

The deaconesses of College Church organized committees to provide food, clothing, furnishings, and living quarters for the family.

A two-story, four-bedroom brick home offered by fellow church member George B. Newitt was selected. Up for sale at the time, the home had only a stove and refrigerator.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers, and James were brought home from the hospital Monday, but all had to remain in bed for further recuperation.

"The place was furnished from top to bottom and there was ample food on hand," said Dr. L.P. McClelleny, church pastor.

"I wasn't there at the time but I understand they were really overjoyed at the goodness of the people."

Fletcher Christian, nine other sailors from the "Bounty" and 19 Polynesians left Tahiti in 1789 secretly to colonize Pitcairn Island. The initial settlement has grown to more than 150.

LAST GI INSURANCE REFUND PAID—Veterans Administrator John S. Gleason presents a check for $55.20 to President Johnson at the White House in Washington as a refund from overpayment of the Chief Executive's GI insurance. The President is last of 6 million veterans to receive refund.

All four trucks had been parked on the hill as their drivers made deliveries to a nearby market, and each time the truck's brakes failed. No one has been injured.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fidel Castro has been boss of Cuba five years this month. How is he doing? He is still there and still a pain in the neck to the United States, and a big embarrassment.

This noisy and flamboyant man is probably a pain to the Russians, too, but an expensive pain. The help they're giving him costs a pretty penny but they hardly dare stop, no matter how much they wish they could.

They've taken Castro under their wing, he is their first foothold in the Western Hemisphere, and for them to let him flop

Louisiana Winner Mum On Electors

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Leaders of the free elector movement in neighboring Southern states have cheered the nomination of John McKeithen as Democratic nominee for governor of Louisiana.

But McKeithen has left the door open as to whether he'll join the unpledged elector drive or support the national party nominee for president.

McKeithen, 45, schooled in politics by the late Gov. Earl K. Long, owes much of his success in last Saturday's runoff to sharp criticism of "federal intervention" and charges that his opponent, deLesseps S. Morrison, made a deal for a Negro bloc vote.

In hailing McKeithen's nomination, Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi said opposition to federal intervention was the principle which gave strength to "our free, unpledged elector movement."

Barnett and Gov. George Wallace of Alabama are leading the drive for unpledged Southern electors.

The free elector plan calls for selection of presidential electors not pledged to any candidate. Backers say this could leave the South in position to bargain for electoral votes for civil rights concessions.

would be an international embarrassment.

It's easy to belittle him. It's done often in this country: the low living standard in Cuba, the poor Cuban sugar crop, the regimentation of the people. Cubans still flee Cuba and the exiles hate him.

But there is no evidence all the Cubans do. Whether he could retain power in a truly free election is something else, but his dictatorship prevails and shows no signs of toppling.

Without Soviet help he might not have survived. But this country's desire to ruin him by isolating him economically—shutting him off from trade with American allies or friends—is far from completely successful.

A British firm just closed a deal to sell him 400 buses for $10 million. Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Spain, where communism was destroyed in the 1930s, opened an airline service to Cuba and reportedly has been considering trading with him.

This situation has its own irony: the United States wants

Interstate Highway Signs Tell Who Pays

WASHINGTON (AP)—Official signs on Interstate Highway projects will be changed to emphasize that highway users are paying for them, reports Rep. Oliver P. Bolton, R-Ohio.

Bolton said he had been notified that his recommendation for the change, submitted to Federal Highway Administrator Rex Whitton, will be carried out.

The new signs will show the amounts of federal and state highway funds that are going into the project, he added.

Mother Is Convicted Of Smothering Baby

CINCINNATI (AP)—A 24-year old mother has been convicted of smothering her 3½-month-old son, Edward, last Sept. 21 in an effort to stop his crying.

Catherine Wallace was found guilty Tuesday of first-degree manslaughter, and Common Pleas Court Judge Frank M. Gusweiler ordered a probation investigation before sentencing.

no one to give Castro economic help but is willing to sell wheat to the Soviet Union.

The answer is simple on that one. Castro is a close-up menace and the Soviet Union isn't; getting along with the Soviet Union is important, but getting along with Castro isn't.

Castro flew off to Moscow to see Premier Khrushchev right after the American-Panamanian riots began last week. Whether he went to talk about that or about more Soviet help for Cuba isn't known yet.

Through it all Castro has been a five-year disaster for the United States in more ways than one:

1. So long as he stays, communism has a foot in America's backyard.

2. The United States has failed to abolish him, despite all its huffing and puffing. This has left the United States red-faced.

3. The American-backed invasion of Cuba, the only real try at getting rid of him, was a total bust.

4. Castro provided the setting for the greatest shock of the late President John F. Kennedy's administration, when Khrushchev almost got away with slipping his missiles into Cuba.

When Kennedy forced the Russian to withdraw the weapons it required an unforgettable showdown that was tough on everybody's nervous system.

The fact that Castro could kick the American shins, and get away with it, may have been an inspiration to the Panamanians to assert themselves.

In an earlier time—say the days of Theodore Roosevelt, which was a time of big-power imperialism—the United States might have settled Castro's hash fast with a quick and direct invasion.

But now the United States and the Soviet Union, also, insisting they have no imperialistic intentions, have to worry about world opinion, which they are trying to influence, when they deal with little nations.

Thus both of them, big as they are, have to operate with one hand tied behind their backs when they encounter troublemakers, although the Soviets used both hands to crush Hungarians when they tried to assert themselves.

This gives Castro a lot of room to maneuver and shake his fist, which he has been doing pretty well, without fear of being belted. There's nothing in sight to indicate it won't be that way for some time.

Community Rallies To Aid Family Struck by Tragedy

WHEATON, Ill. (AP)—When an early-morning fire destroyed the William Rodgers home Friday, killing a son and daughter and injuring four other members of the family of nine, the tragedy touched the hearts of hundreds of persons.

Many persons telephoned the College Church in Wheaton which the Rodgers family attended, asking: "How can I help?"

Rodgers, 46; his wife, Emily, 45; and their sons, James, 13, and Joel, 5, were in a hospital suffering from burns and cuts and frostbite suffered when they fled the blazing two-story home. His daughter, Cynthia, 17, and son, Robert, 11, were dead. The three other children were sheltered in the homes of friends.

Rodgers is a free lance commercial artist. In addition to the deep personal tragedy, the fire meant the loss of the family home, its furnishings and the immediate means of support. Rodgers maintained an art studio in the home and he had lost all his working tools and some finished work.

The offers of help included cash donations, home furnishings and four empty homes available rent free for immediate occupancy.

The deaconesses of College Church organized committees to provide food, clothing, furnishings, and living quarters for the family.

A two-story, four-bedroom brick home offered by fellow church member George B. Newitt was selected. Up for sale at the time, the home had only a stove and refrigerator.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers, and James were brought home from the hospital Monday, but all had to remain in bed for further recuperation.

"The place was furnished from top to bottom and there was ample food on hand," said Dr. L.P. McClenny, church pastor.

"I wasn't there at the time but I understand they were really overjoyed at the goodness of the people."

Fletcher Christian, nine other sailors from the "Bounty" and 19 Polynesians left Tahiti in 1789 secretly to colonize Pitcairn Island. The initial settlement has grown to more than 150.

LAST GI INSURANCE REFUND PAID—Veterans Administrator John S. Gleason presents a check for $55.20 to President Johnson at the White House in Washington as a refund from overpayment of the Chief Executive's GI insurance. The President is last of 6 million veterans to receive refund.

They Know Real Snow In Muskegon

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—Residents of this Lake Michigan port city smile nonchalantly when you tell them New York is buried under 12 inches of snow.

Not that they're unsympathetic, mind you, it's just that they've almost forgotten that snow can be measured in inches. They have shoveled out from under more than 13 feet of it so far this winter. Anything less than a foot goes almost unnoticed.

Things are pretty clear now—most of it has melted away and there is only about a foot on the ground.

People are different here from early December to March.

Here, happiness is when the guy next door gets a mechanical snow blower.

Misery is slithering around on the roof, knocking off snow and ice so when it finally melts the water won't back up under the shingles and drop chunks of soggy plaster on the television set.

When it snows in Muskegon, schools don't close, factories operate at full tilt, people go shopping—and the boss still wants to know why you were late for work.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Light southerly winds and partly cloudy to cloudy skies, mostly across the southern counties, Tuesday night contributed considerably to the recovery from the deep freeze in Ohio.

Early today, temperatures were all above zero, with the coldest reading in the northern half of the state. Before daybreak today, Youngstown reported 5, Cleveland 12, Columbus 10 and Cincinnati 18.

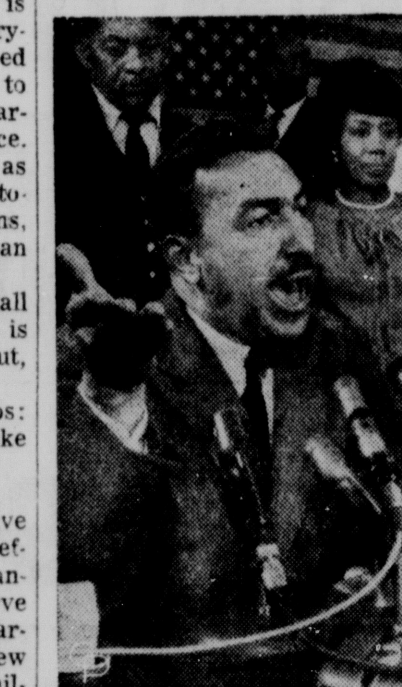

High pressure over the southeastern states will pump mild air into the Ohio region through Thursday, maintaining a slight warming trend as it moves slowly eastward.

At the same time, mostly dry weather appears likely.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average four to seven degrees below normal. Normal high 34-36, normal low 18-23. Moderating temperatures Thursday, colder Friday, warmer first of week. Precipitation expected to average two-tenths of an inch melted as scattered snow flurries about Friday, again first of week.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average about 10 to 15 degrees below normal. Normal high 36-44, normal low 20-26. Slight warming trend until colder near week-end. Little or no precipitation indicated central, less than one-fourth inch south, chance of some snow appears mostly likely late Thursday or Friday.

RETURNS TO CLUB — Adam Clayton Powell, Democratic representative from Harlem, gestures during a news conference at his political club in New York after an absence of 11 months. Arriving for the meeting an hour and a half late, Powell was cheered by his fellow Alfred Isaacs Democratic Clubbers.

The Old Curiosity Shop in London withstood plague, fire and three centuries of wear and tear before it became the scene of a famous Dickens novel.

Visiting Dickens' Scenes Is Delight

By STEVE LIBBY
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

Charles Dickens worked late on June 8, 1870. Then, after supper, he retired to his room at Gad's Hill Place, in Kent, England. The novel on which he was working was "The Mystery of Edwin Drood." It was never finished. Dickens died of a stroke that night.

One of the most prolific writers the world has ever known, Dickens was more than just a novelist. His characters, some based on people he knew, were and are vividly alive. His sympathy with underprivileged people was boundless and his writings did much to provoke public indignation against social evils of the era.

Charles Dickens was born at Portsmouth on Feb. 7, 1812. Later the family moved to Chatham, where they lived at 11 Ordnance Terrace until 1821. Their neighbors, the Stronghills, had a son, George, who became one of young Charles' closest friends. Later he was the model for Steerforth in "David Copperfield."

Dickens' early impressions of London were negative. His father was always in debt and Charles had to work at an early age. The dark-haired youngster walked from his home in the Marshalsea to Warren's blacking factory where he worked.

Dickens was in a much better situation as a young man because of his growing reputation as a writer. On March 31, 1836, he married Catherine Hogarth, two days after the first number of "Pickwick Papers" appeared. The $100 paid for his wedding trip.

The next year Dickens moved his family into their first home at 48 Doughty St., Bloomsbury. With him and his wife were their infant son; Dickens' brother, Fred, and his sister-in-law Mary Hogarth, then a beautiful girl of 17.

Mary's death soon afterward came as such a shock to Dickens, publication of "Pickwick Papers" was suspended for two months. "Oliver Twist," at that time running as a serial in "Bentley's Miscellany," which he was editing, was also interrupted. A musical adaptation of the play is a current hit in New York.

Much of "Nicholas Nickleby" was read aloud to his neighbor, John Forster, later to become Dickens' biographer.

In the three years Dickens lived at Doughty Street his fame was established. His two daughters were born in the house and, late in 1839, the family moved to a larger home at Devonshire Terrace, near Regent's Park.

Later Dickens and his wife purchased a home at Broadstairs, Kent — the house now known as Bleak House. By now Dickens was working on "David Copperfield" and "Bleak House," enjoying sea bathing and watching his family play on the shore.

Visitors can still see the study and dining room in which he describes himself as "eating a strong lunch after walking a dozen miles or so." Among other rooms to which visitors are admitted is the hall with its painting by Sir Winston Churchill, presented as a Christmas gift to the owner, Charles Eade.

The last 10 years of Dickens' life were spent at Gad's Hill Place, purchased in 1856.

Dickens placed great importance on his family life. He was exuberant, often wearing dandified clothes and fond of lively parties. A devoted husband and father and a charming host, his descriptions of Christmas festivities in "A Christmas Carol" and "Pickwick Papers," bear witness to his love of good cheer.

Rochester, which Dickens knew as a child, was the scene of several of his novels, the "Cloisterham" of "Edwin Drood." The old Bull Hotel, near the cathedral, was "The Blue Boar" in "Great Expectations," and was also where the Pickwickians stayed after their first day's travel.

Also in Rochester is the wooden chalet where Dickens wrote his last words.

To anyone who has enjoyed Dickens' writings, a visit to the places where the author lived or wrote about is like coming home. For no other writer so brilliantly portrayed the age in which he lived.

NE Ohio Industrial Appreciation Fete Set

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has announced plans for an appreciation dinner some time in April for industry in Northeast Ohio.

"We want to express our gratitude for industry remaining here and for new industry locating here," the governor said Tuesday night after a meeting with city and county officials.

City Braced For 8 Sonic Booms Daily

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Think your nerves could stand eight sonic booms a day for the next six months? Residents here are going to find out.

Gordon Bain, deputy Federal Aviation Agency administrator, says public reaction to the disturbances will have a great deal to do with the future of overland flights in supersonic transport planes.

The FAA, beginning in February, will conduct a program during which eight flights daily pass over residential areas at speeds greater than the speed of sound.

Reaction to the resulting sonic booms will provide an insight, Bain said Monday night at a briefing for newsmen who were invited to attend a supersonic flight demonstration today at Clinton - Sherman Air Force Base.

Air Force F104 fighter planes will create the booms on flights at 30,000 to 40,000 feet over Oklahoma City.

Bain said the FAA believes supersonic transport plane may be the finest commercial transport that has ever flown.

"But it is necessary to find out how people feel about this phenomenon," he said. "The only true judge of acceptability has to be the people who live below in these sonic boom paths."

Big Cincy Apartment Center Changes Hands

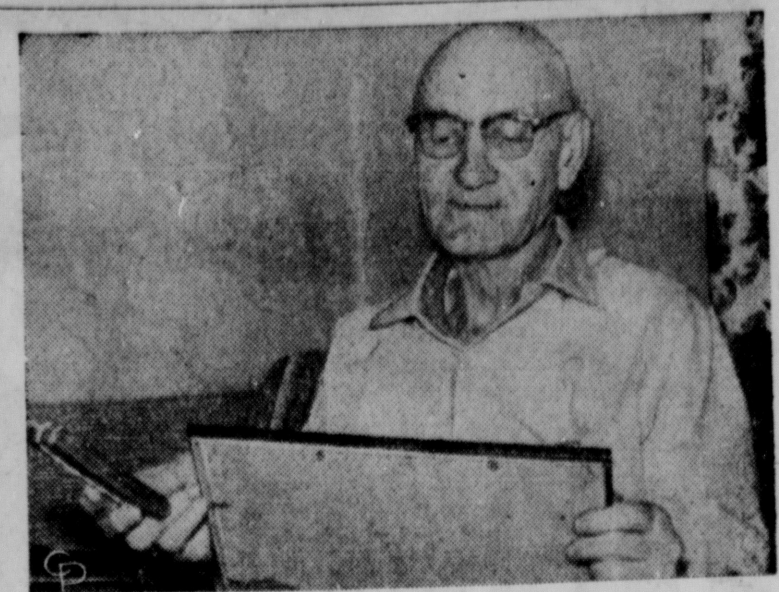

CINCINNATI (AP) — Plagued by financial trouble since it was built in 1956, Swifton Village, a large apartment center here, was sold Tuesday to Trump Village Construction Co. of Brooklyn, N. Y., for $5,676,300.

The Federal Housing Administration took over Swifton last March to avoid foreclosure proceedings. The center was built by the Jonathon Woodner Corp.

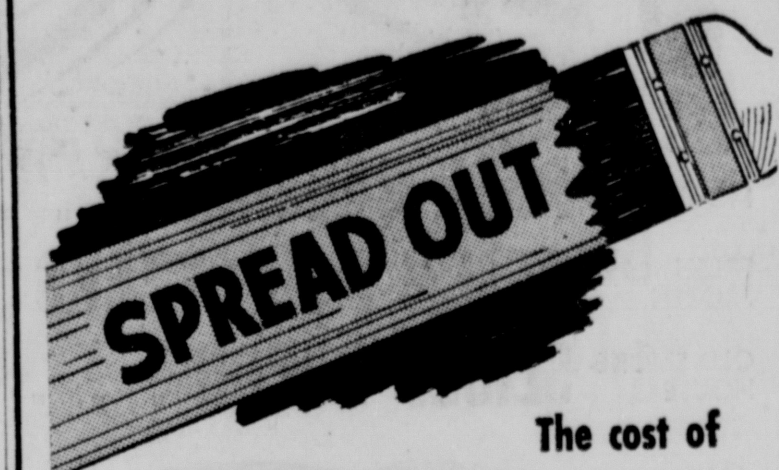

OSU's 4-Quarter Plan Due To Be Continued

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University will continue its four quarter plan, the school's Administrative Council announced Tuesday.

The council also recommended that quarters be equalized and be set at 11 weeks in length. Ohio State has been on the four-quarter system for 42 years.

They Know Real Snow In Muskegon

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—Residents of this Lake Michigan port city smile condescendingly when you tell them New York is buried under 12 inches of snow.

Not that they're unsympathetic, mind you, it's just that they've almost forgotten that snow can be measured in inches. They have shoveled out from under more than 13 feet of it so far this winter. Anything less than a foot goes almost unnoticed.

Things are pretty clear now—most of it has melted away and there is only about a foot on the ground.

People are different here from early December to March.

Here, happiness is when the guy next door gets a mechanical snow blower.

Misery is slithering around on the roof, knocking off snow and ice so when it finally melts the water won't back up under the shingles and drop chunks of soggy plaster on the television set.

When it snows in Muskegon, schools don't close, factories operate at full tilt, people go shopping—and the boss still wants to know why you were late for work.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Light southerly winds and partly cloudy to cloudy skies, mostly across the southern counties, Tuesday night contributed considerably to the recovery from the deep freeze in Ohio.

Early today, temperatures were all above zero, with the coldest reading in the northern half of the state. Before daybreak today, Youngstown reported 5, Cleveland 12, Columbus 10 and Cincinnati 18.

High pressure over the southeastern states will pump mild air into the Ohio region through Thursday, maintaining a slight warming trend as it moves slowly eastward.

At the same time, mostly dry weather appears likely.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average four to seven degrees below normal. Normal high 34-36, normal low 18-23. Moderating temperatures Thursday, colder Friday, warmer first of week. Precipitation expected to average two-tenths of an inch melted as scattered snow flurries about Friday, again first of week.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average about 10 to 15 degrees below normal. Normal high 36-44, normal low 20-26. Slight warming trend until colder near weekend. Little or no precipitation indicated central, less than one-fourth inch south, chance of some snow appears mostly likely late Thursday or Friday.

Visiting Dickens' Scenes Is Delight

By STEVE LIBBY

Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

Charles Dickens worked late on June 8, 1870. Then, after supper, he retired to his room at Gad's Hill Place, in Kent, England. The novel on which he was working was "The Mystery of Edwin Drood." It was never finished. Dickens died of a stroke that night.

One of the most prolific writers the world has ever known, Dickens was more than just a novelist. His characters, some based on people he knew, were and are vividly alive. His sympathy with underprivileged people was boundless and his writings did much to provoke public indignation against social evils of the era.

Charles Dickens was born at Portsmouth on Feb. 7, 1812. Later the family moved to Chatham, where they lived at 11 Ordinance Terrace until 1821. Their neighbors, the Stronghills, had a son, George, who became one of young Charles' closest friends. Later he was the model for Steerforth in "David Copperfield."

Dickens' early impressions of London were negative. His father was always in debt and Charles had to work at an early age. The dark-haired youngster walked from his home in the Marshalsea to Warren's blacking factory where he worked.

Dickens was in a much better situation as a young man because of his growing reputation as a writer. On March 31, 1836, he married Catherine Hogarth, two days after the first number of "Pickwick Papers" appeared. The $100 paid for his wedding trip.

The next year Dickens moved his family into their first home at 48 Doughty St., Bloomsbury. With him and his wife were their infant son; Dickens' brother, Fred, and his sister-in-law Mary Hogarth, then a beautiful girl of 17.

Mary's death soon afterward came as such a shock to Dickens, publication of "Pickwick Papers" was suspended for two months. "Oliver Twist," at that time running as a serial in "Bentley's Miscellany," which he was editing, was also interrupted. A musical adaptation of the play is a current hit in New York.

Much of "Nicholas Nickleby" was read aloud to his neighbor, John Forster, later to become Dickens' biographer.

In the three years Dickens lived at Doughty Street his fame was established. His two daughters were born in the house and, late in 1839, the family moved to a larger home at Devonshire Terrace, near Regent's Park.

Later Dickens and his wife purchased a home at Broadstairs, Kent — the house now known as Bleak House. By now Dickens was working on "David Copperfield" and "Bleak House," enjoying sea bathing and watching his family play on the shore.

Visitors can still see the study and dining room in which he describes himself as

"eating a strong lunch after walking a dozen miles or so." Among other rooms to which visitors are admitted is the hall with its painting by Sir Winston Churchill, presented as a Christmas gift to the owner, Charles Eade.

The last 10 years of Dickens' life were spent at Gad's Hill Place, purchased in 1856.

Dickens placed great importance on his family life. He was exuberant, often wearing dandified clothes and fond of lively parties. A devoted husband and father and a charming host, his descriptions of Christmas festivities in "A Christmas Carol" and "Pickwick Papers," bear witness to his love of good cheer.

Rochester, which Dickens knew as a child, was the scene of several of his novels. The "Cloisterham" of "Edwin Drood." The old Bull Hotel, near the cathedral, was "The Blue Boar" in "Great Expectations," and was also where the Pickwickians stayed after their first day's travel.

Also in Rochester is the wooden chalet where Dickens wrote his last words. To anyone who has enjoyed Dickens' writings, a visit to the places where the author lived or wrote about is like coming home. For no other writer so brilliantly portrayed the age in which he lived.

City Braced For 8 Sonic Booms Daily

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Think your nerves could stand eight sonic booms a day for the next six months? Residents here are going to find out.

Gordon Bain, deputy Federal Aviation Agency administrator, says public reaction to the disturbances will have a great deal to do with the future of overland flights in supersonic transport planes.

The FAA, beginning in February, will conduct a program during which eight flights daily pass over residential areas at speeds greater than the speed of sound.

Reaction to the resulting sonic booms will provide an insight, Bain said Monday night at a briefing for newsmen who were invited to attend a supersonic flight demonstration today at Clinton - Sherman Air Force Base.

Air Force F104 fighter planes will create the booms on flights at 30,000 to 40,000 feet over Oklahoma City.

Bain said the FAA believes supersonic transport plane may be the finest commercial transport that has ever flown.

"But it is necessary to find out how people feel about this phenomenon," he said. "The only true judge of acceptability has to be the people who live below in these sonic boom paths."

California 'Boont Ling' Comes Under Close Study

CHICO, Calif. (AP) — "Let's pike to Boont."

This may not mean much to anyone outside Boonville, Calif., but several California researchers into American dialects and colloquialisms think it may be a good idea.

The discovery of a pioneer lingo known as "Boont Ling" in the narrow, winding Anderson Valley in Northern California's interest among several language experts, since the dialect still is spoken as a secondary language among Boonville old-timers and on outlying ranches.

Boont Ling is a contraction of Boonville lingo, with an off-beat vocabulary, but with syntax and grammar the same as that of normal English.

Charles Adams, assistant professor of English at Chico State College, Butte County, Calif., first heard of the lingo from Caroline Close, librarian at Chico State.

She had written a paper when she was a student in folklore at Sonoma State College relating, among other things, how a soldier in World War II wrote home from overseas in Boont Ling to avoid censorship.

A study of the Anderson Valley area, which was settled in 1853, shows it was isolated for many decades. The original settlers, many from the Midwest, lived to themselves, intermarried and gradually developed a secondary language of their own.

How the words developed is not precisely known. But every one who was anybody received a nickname, usually related to personal habits, physical characteristics and appearance. These crept into Boont Ling as nouns, verbs and adjectives, together with slang expressions, archaic English, bits of Indian dialect and odd contractions.

For instance: charley ball means to embarrass, frati is wine, a hairk means a haircut, hairy mouth is a dog.

Nouns often become verbs: chipmunk means to board, pike is a word for travel.

Who started Boont ling? Adams believes it may have been the result of teen-age efforts to develop a special language which would preserve secrets from their pioneer parents. As these youngsters grew into parenthood, their own children took some of the expressions and added to them; and so down the generations.

Search Continues For Noah's Ark

By JAMES H. WINCHESTER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

LONDON, England — Few ships in history excite the imagination or invite more conjecture than Noah's Ark. Today, interest in this Biblical ship is so intense that at least four expeditions — one British, one Dutch, and two from the United States — are now being organized to search for the vessel.

Behind this revived interest in much historical background. In World War I, Vladimir Roskovitsky, a Russian airman, stationed 25 miles northwest of Mt. Ararat, in the Middle East, amazed the world with a report he'd spotted the Ark. On a hot summer day, Roskovitsky claimed, he and a companion were testing a repaired pursuit plane. After a short warm-up they climbed to 14,000 feet and headed for Mt. Ararat. They circled it several times. As they prepared to return, he took the plane into a long glide down the south side of the mountain. Suddenly they saw the hulk of a huge vessel resting along the crags.

Flying closer they saw an an-

City Housing Authorities Challenged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court has been asked to rule on an appeal that could affect metropolitan housing authorities in a score of the state's cities.

Two electrical firms asked the high court Tuesday to require separate contracts for electrical work on two projects under construction by the Dayton Metropolitan Housing Authority.

Chapel Electric Co. and York Electric Co. made the request in appealing from decisions of common pleas and appellate courts in Montgomery County.

Lower courts held that the housing authority was not required by law to take separate bids for materials for each trade or kind of mechanical labor on the projects involving nearly 200 units and a community building.

The firms argue that the legislature designated metropolitan housing authorities as "public authorities" and thus they are subject to a statute requiring such agencies to take separate construction bids.

Locations of those housing authorities were given as Akron, Canton, Massillon, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Fostoria, Hamilton, Ironton, London, Lorain, Mansfield, Martins Ferry, Medina, Portsmouth, Warren, Springfield, Steubenville, Toledo Youngstown and Zanesville.

'More in '64' Describes Outlook on Civil Rights

ATLANTA (AP) — "More in '64," describes the outlook for the civil rights movement which last year picked up great momentum with widespread mass demonstrations.

This slogan of Edwin C. Berry, executive director of Chicago's Urban League, carries both the hope of civil rights leaders for more changes and the resolve for more demonstrations unless the changes come.

Indications of what will happen came from Associated Press interviews of about 30 white and Negro leaders in nearly 20 cities, North and South.

Activities by civil rights groups likely will quicken within the next two months. But a trend toward conciliation by white leaders trying to avert demonstrations might prevent repetition of last summer's upheaval.

The outlook for 1964:

1. A pickup in demonstrations. But they will not likely reach the 1963 proportions.

"I am confident we will see resumption of demonstrations in many communities across the South and the nation," said Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

2. Trend toward negotiation, conciliation.

The trend to avert demonstrations has emerged since racial troubles reached a peak last summer in Birmingham, Ala., said King. It has not spread into Mississippi and many parts of Alabama, he said.

Reaction to the civil rights movement has brought changes in employment practices, said Ed Marciniak of Chicago, chairman of the Mayor's Commission on Human Relations.

"During 1963 employment opportunities in white collar, technical and professional jobs formerly closed to nonwhites multiplied beyond expectations," Marciniak said. "This pace will continue during 1964."

Concessions have reduced the need or threat of demonstrations in a number of cities.

3. Growing emphasis on better jobs.

As the obvious racial barriers fall, the civil rights drive shifts its point of attack to economic improvement of the Negro.

"It's turning to economic manners now," said Dr. John R. Cunningham, chairman of the Human Relations Commission in Charlotte, N.C. "Every area of the public life has been integrated here."

Boycotts, or "selective buying" campaigns, have been effective in many areas where Negroes sought better jobs.

This tactic will continue to be widely used.

4. Voter registration. With national elections coming up, voting strength will get more attention.

Dr. R. A. Hawkins, a Negro dentist in Charlotte, N.C., said voter drives would get the main emphasis in some areas, depending on the situation.

5. Civil rights legislation. A big drive will be made by civil rights groups to get administration measures through Congress.

"If there is no civil rights bill approved, then it means a possible upheaval," said Andrew Freeman, executive secretary of the Urban League in Philadelphia.

Bulldozers Cleaning Out California Disaster Area

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Wrecking crews marked the one-month anniversary of the Baldwin Dam disaster Tuesday by ramming bulldozers through homes left mangled by the devastating flood.

The area below the broken reservoir—once a tranquil and attractive residential neighborhood—now looks like an urban renewal project as trucks in an endless string haul away rubble and mud.

Homes on each side of the flood path, sliced open by the rampaging waters, gaped on the busy scene, grim reminders of the Dec. 14 tragedy that killed five persons, injured 27, and caused damage estimated at more than $11 million.

Stricken residents, still shocked by the sudden loss, watch demolition crews rip apart the wreckage of their dwellings.

Mrs. Mollie Kaplan voiced a typical reaction as a giant crane tore the roof from her home and dropped it into a truck.

"Somebody is going to have to pay us for this,"

Like most victims, she isn't sure just who that will be.

Authorities say 41 homes were swept away or smashed beyond repair.

An estimated 1,500 dwellings were damaged, including 400 of the 650 apartments in Village Green, a garden-court development.

More than 3,000 autos were damaged by mud-laden water that surged up to 10-foot deep through business and residential streets. Two schools were closed temporarily, 45 streets blocked off and 56 business and industrial establishments damaged.

Estimates of damage ran as high as $50 million but Col. Earl Peacock, chief area engineer for the Army Engineers, later said that replacement costs would be about $11.3 million.

Cost of the cleanup alone will run about $1 million. Several inquiries are under way in an effort to determine the cause and to fix responsibility.

8 Ohioans To Be Cited For Forestry

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Rep. Robert E. Holmes (R-Franklin) and seven other persons will be presented awards Jan. 24 at the annual logging supper of the Ohio Forestry Association, Inc.

Robert R. Patton, the association's executive director, announced the award winners Tuesday. They will be honored here at the dinner climaxing the association's 61st annual convention.

Holmes was cited for his support of state legislation dealing with conservation and outdoor recreation. He has been a member of the General Assembly since 1960.

Also to be honored are: John M. Woodrow, Columbus, Ohio Bell Telephone executive, for his work through his company's farm service and government guide.

Fred Merrill, Canfield, a work unit conservationist with the Mahoning Soil and Water Conservation District.

Raymond Larrick, Chillicothe, for his management of timberland in Ross and Pike counties.

A. J. Kosetner, Dayton, former science teacher at Brookville High School who has worked with the Dayton Museum of Natural History and Dayton Metropolitan Committee on Conservation Education.

Dr. Arthur G. Chapman, Worthington, chief of timber management for Central States Experiment Station, Columbus.

Miss Linda Garrett, New London, for conservation education work with Girl Scouts.

Mrs. John W. Aull, Dayton, a director of the National Audubon Society.

3 Boys Nabbed After Fleeing Jail

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—Three 17-year-old boys who escaped from the Clermont County jail Tuesday night were recaptured a few hours later when their stolen car ran out of gas.

Sheriff's deputies said the youths were apprehended by a Pierce Township constable as they walked along Ohio 125 in eastern Clermont County after abandoning their car.

The youths, identified as John Albert Smith, New Richmond, and Glenn Parker and Art Auster, both of Batavia, escaped by sawing through a bar in the Juvenile Detention Center with a hacksaw blade. All had been held for minor offenses, deputies said.

Liquor Permit Fees Are $3,600 Here

Pickaway County received $3,600 from the state in the fourth quarterly distribution of liquor permit fees covering the calendar year of 1963, it was announced today by State Auditor Roger W. Tracy.

The state distribution totaled $2,626,529.80, according to the auditor's report. The distribution represents the total liquor permit license fees paid by holders during the last three months of the past year.

Stock Market Trend Gamblers Are Nabbed

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Two men and a woman charged with taking wagers on stock market trends were arrested Tuesday on Dayton's West Side.

George Franklin Spurlin, 48, was charged with permitting gambling on his property. Wesley Allen, 41, and Elizabeth Jackson, 48, were charged with possession of gambling paraphernalia.

Dr. McCoy Named To Head County Medical Society

Dr. Robert McCoy has been named president of the Pickaway County Medical Assn. Other officers elected were Dr. Ray Carroll, president elect, and Dr. E. L. Montgomery, secretary-treasurer.

Named as a delegate to the Ohio State Medical Assn. was Dr. J. M. Hedges. Dr. Robert G. Hedges was named alternate.

Jaycees To Meet

There will be a general membership meeting of the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce 8 p. m. tomorrow in the club rooms, it was announced today by John Fissell.

RECONCILED—Andre Porumbéanu and wife Gamble Benedict Porumbéanu, the typewriter heiress whose elopement marriage to him caused an international sensation, are shown back in New York to take care of business matters. She left him for divorce in Switzerland, but later reconciled.

Search Continues For Noah's Ark

By JAMES H. WINCHESTER
Correspondent

LONDON, England — Few ships in history excite the imagination or invite more conjecture than Noah's Ark. Today, interest in this Biblical ship is so intense that at least four expeditions — one British, one Dutch, and two from the United States — are now being organized to search for the vessel.

Behind this revived interest in much historical background. In World War I, Vladimir Roskovitsky, a Russian airman, stationed 25 miles northwest of Mt. Ararat, in the Middle East, amazed the world with a report he'd spotted the Ark. On a hot summer day, Roskovitsky claimed, he and a companion were testing a repaired pursuit plane. After a short warm-up they climbed to 14,000 feet and headed for Mt. Ararat. They circled it several times. As they prepared to return, he took the plane into a long glide down the south side of the mountain. Suddenly they saw the hulk of a huge vessel resting along the crags.

Flying closer they saw an an-

City Housing Authorities Challenged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court has been asked to rule on an appeal that could affect metropolitan housing authorities in a score of the state's cities.

Two electrical firms asked the high court Tuesday to require separate contracts for electrical work on two projects under construction by the Dayton Metropolitan Housing Authority.

Chapel Electric Co. and York Elelectric Co. made the request in appealing from decisions of common pleas and appellate courts in Montgomery County.

Lower courts held that the housing authority was not required by law to take separate bids for materials for each trade or kind of mechanical labor on the projects involving nearly 200 units and a community building.

The firms argue that the legislature designated metropolitan housing authorities as "public authorities" and thus they are subject to a statute requiring such agencies to take separate construction bids.

Locations of those housing authorities were given as Akron, Canton, Massillon, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Fostoria, Hamilton, Ironton, London, Lorain, Mansfield, Martins Ferry, Medina, Portsmouth, Warren, Springfield, Steubenville, Toledo Youngstown and Zanesville.

cient ship about 400 feet long. The Bible says the Ark was 450 feet long, 75 feet broad and 45 feet high. It had stubby masts, and the top was rounded, as though the builder had expected waves to wash over it. Down its length was a catwalk.

The airman reported that it was grounded on the shores of a small lake, about three parts submerged. Later, Roskovitsky flew over the spot again with his commanding officer, who confirmed the finding. Russia's Czar Nicholas, upon getting this report, sent out a ground party. Reportedly, they found the Ark and photographed it.

However, the Russian Revolution broke out at this time and the report and the photographs were lost or destroyed. Some say that they were destroyed by the Bolsheviks trying to discredit belief in the Bible. Only last year, the Russians tried to get Turkey to forbid any foreigners to search Mt. Ararat. The Turks refused.

During World War II, Maj. Jasper Maskelyne, wartime chief of Russian camouflage, reported: "One of my men flew over Mt. Ararat in a reconnaissance plane. He reported that he saw a partly submerged vessel in an ice lake.

"Arctic climbers investigated the lake, which was partly thawed, and found the remains of an ark, very rotted, over 400 feet long, reduced to a fossilized wood looking almost like coal."

This Russian report checks with another story dated some 2,000 years ago. Berossus of Babylon wrote that his people climbed Mt. Ararat to obtain bituminous-coal timber from an ark.

There have been other reports. In 1883, following an earthquake which dislodged huge chunks of ice from Mt. Ararat, a Turkish expedition reportedly found the wooden prow of an ancient ship protruding from a glacier.

Ten years later, a Dr. Nouri, then archdeacon of Jerusalem and Babylon, exploring along the source of the Euphrates, reached Mt. Ararat. He claimed he and his party saw, touched and explored the remains of the Ark.

Again, in World War II, two Australian airmen showed aerial pictures in England which they said had been taken of Noah's Ark in a cleft of Mt. Ararat. The men vanished, taking their pictures with them, before the report could be checked.

Now, utilizing both modern aerial and ground electronic equipment, and timing their hunt to the summer months when the sun is hottest, upon Mt. Ararat's ice and snow, the expeditions about to set out to look for the fabled Ark may conceivably come back with the greatest archeological discovery of our or any age.

'More in '64' Describes Outlook on Civil Rights

ATLANTA (AP) — "More in '64," describes the outlook for the civil rights movement which last year picked up great momentum with widespread mass demonstrations.

This slogan of Edwin C. Berry, executive director of Chicago's Urban League, carries both the hope of civil rights leaders for more changes and the resolve for more demonstrations unless the changes come.

Indications of what will happen came from Associated Press interviews of about 30 white and Negro leaders in nearly 20 cities, North and South.

Activities by civil rights groups likely will quicken within the next two months. But a trend toward conciliation by white leaders trying to avert demonstrations might prevent repetition of last summer's upheaval.

The outlook for 1964:

1. A pickup in demonstrations. But they will not likely reach the 1963 proportions.

"I am confident we will see resumption of demonstrations in many communities across the South and the nation," said Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

2. Trend toward negotiation, conciliation.

The trend to avert demonstrations has emerged since racial troubles reached a peak last summer in Birmingham, Ala., said King. It has not spread into Mississippi and many parts of Alabama, he said.

Reaction to the civil rights movement has brought changes in employment practices, said Ed Marciniak of Chicago, chairman of the Mayor's Commission on Human Relations.

"During 1963 employment opportunities in white collar, technical and professional jobs formerly closed to nonwhites multiplied beyond expectations," Marciniak said. "This pace will continue during 1964."

Concessions have reduced the need or threat of demonstrations in a number of cities.

3. Growing emphasis on better jobs.

As the obvious racial barriers fall, the civil rights drive shifts its point of attack to economic improvement of the Negro.

"It's turning to economic matters now," said Dr. John R. Cunningham, chairman of the Human Relations Commission in Charlotte, N.C. "Every area of the public life has been integrated here."

Boycotts, or "selective buying" campaigns, have been effective in many areas where Negroes sought better jobs.

This tactic will continue to be widely used.

4. Voter registration. With national elections coming up, voting strength will get more attention.

Dr. R. A. Hawkins, a Negro dentist in Charlotte, N.C., said voter drives would get the main emphasis in some areas, depending on the situation.

5. Civil rights legislation.

A big drive will be made by civil rights groups to get administration measures through Congress.

"If there is no civil rights bill approved, then it means a possible upheaval," said Andrew Freeman, executive secretary of the Urban League in Philadelphia.

East Wins Star Game as Players Threaten Strike

BOSTON (AP)—It was advertised as the night of the 14th annual National Basketball Association All-Star game.

But it may have been the night the NBA came painfully close to collapsing.

Game time Tuesday night was 9 p.m., EST. Television cameras for a national audience were ready. A full house was settling back at Boston Garden, waiting for the 20 best players in the league to begin action for the East and West teams. The spotlights were about to go on.

There was only one flaw. The players had decided they were going to walk out—leaving the cameras, the audience, the fans and the spotlights—if the league didn't call a meeting of the Board of Governors.

They wanted a pension plan. And, apparently, they wanted it, or at least solid assurance of it, right then and there.

"The players told me at 8:55, five minutes before game-time, that they would go through with the game," said J. Walter Kennedy, league president.

Until that moment, Kennedy said, the game was in doubt. The East squad, led by Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson and Boston's Sam Jones, went on to win 111-107 and register its ninth victory in 14 games.

But the game seemed anticlimactical after what had been taking place in a dressing room 50 feet from the court.

Kennedy told newsmen at the hastily-called conference just out of sight of the fans—and just as the game got underway that he had just met with All-Star Tom Heinsohn of Boston, President of the NBA Players Association, earlier Tuesday and discussed the proposed pension plan.

He assured Heinsohn, he said, that the plan would be acted on either Feb. 18-19, at the NBA Board of Governors meeting, or on May 1, when all the club owners were present at the league's annual meeting.

He said he thought the matter had been taken care of. But at 6 p.m. Heinsohn and Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks came to his hotel room and demanded an immediate Board of Governors meeting.

This was impossible, Kennedy told them. But he agreed to contact all the owners who were in Boston for the game and get assurances from them that they would act on the pension plan either next month or May 1.

The NBA president then met with the 20 All-Star players in a dressing room at 8:25 and assured them that the plan will be thoroughly considered.

That was that and the game—a good one—went on after a 10-minute delay. The East built up an 18-point lead in the third period, then had to hang on as the West, led by Jerry West of Los Angeles, Wilt Chamberlain of San Francisco and Pettit, rallied and closed the margin to four points on three occasions.

Robertson was the game's high scorer and Most Valuable Player with 26 points, 14 rebounds and eight assists. Wilt and Pettit each had 19 points.

Rookie pitcher Tommy John of the Cleveland Indians won nine games at Charleston and six at Jacksonville last season.

Circleville Five Faces Rough Test At Wilmington

The Circleville High School basketball team will face a tough test Friday when the Tigers travel to Wilmington for a South Central Ohio League game.

After 10 dismal starts this season, the Tigers finally tasted victory last Friday when they defeated Franklin Heights, 57-55.

But they will be playing in the bailiwick of the Hurricane this week. Only undefeated Pleasant View has bested the Wilmington High School cagers on their own floor in recent years.

Just two weeks ago, Wilmington withstood a 91-point CHS scoring effort here by coming up with 99 markers in a high scoring tilt.

BUT THE stranglehold the Hurricane has enjoyed in the SCO seems to be slipping. The defending co-champions have already lost three games this year.

The first loss was suffered at Franklin Heights. The second came when Pleasant View traveled to Wilmington and the third just last week when the charges of Allen Burger invaded Greenfield McClain, where Burger coached last year.

The three losses have slipped the defending champions into third place in the standings. Pleasant View's perfect 6-0 slate is tops while Hillsboro is running second with a 4-2 record.

Tiger coach Don Neff, searching for a winning combination, utilized an exciting two platoon system against Wilmington in the previous game here.

A senior quintet started the game, was relieved by five juniors, went back into the game during the third period, and then was replaced by the juniors again in the final period.

However, last week his starting team consisted of four juniors, John Thomas, Chet Iery, Ron Seward, John Maxwell and one senior, Tom Smith.

BOB PURCELL replaced Maxwell at guard and it was Thomas, Iery, Seward, Smith and Purcell finishing the game. Two Tiger seniors, Dave Bass and Tom Tootle, were out with injuries — Bass with a bad back and Tootle with a sprained ankle.

Thomas and Smith are leading the Circleville offense with 150 points each. In the League, Thomas has tallied 115, good for fourth place behind George Fannin of Pleasant View who has 131 markers, Hillsboro's Fred Cluff with 129 and Greenfield's Tom Doyle with 118.

Purcell, who has tallied 113 points for Circleville in all games, has 79 points in the seven league tilts and Smith has 74.

These three are the most consistent point makers on the Tiger team.

Elsewhere around the league, Greenfield McClain will be seeming to duplicate the upset effort of last week when the McClain Tigers upset the Wilmington Hurricane. They travel to unbeaten Pleasant View.

HILLSBORO will try to maintain their hold on second place and stay within striking distance of the lead when the Indians host Miami Trace.

Franklin Heights and Washington C. H. tangle on the Blue Lions' court.

Saturday games find Pleasant View at Teays Valley as the area's two teams with the best records clash; Hillsboro at Jackson and Miami Trace hosting Walnut Ridge.

Top Keglars Set For Dallas Test

DALLAS (AP) — One of the strongest fields in the 23-year history of the All-Star Bowling Tournament is on hand for tonight's opening events.

The 127-pound St. Louis fireball, Dick Weber, will be gunning for his third straight championship in the $100,000 event. He would win $15,000 if he takes the title as he has done the past two years.

The greatest threat facing Weber probably is Don Carter, who has won four of the 15 All-Stars in which he has appeared.

Nearly half of this year's field of 288 men are veterans from other All-Star tournaments.

Marion Ladewig, 49, of Grand Rapids, Mich., won the women's title last year over Bobbie Shaler of Chicago. Both are back.

Miami, OU Set for Vital Clash

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Long-time rivals Miami and Ohio University clash tonight in a crucial contest with first place at stake in the rugged Mid-American Conference basketball race.

The showdown at Athens is the game of the week in the topsy-turvy seven-member loop.

Miami, which has won seven of its last nine outings, is in first place with an unblemished 4-0 record. Ohio, 8-3 against all foes, stands 3-1 in the league and a victory could give the Bobcats a share of the top spot.

The two schools, boasting veteran quintets, have to be tabbed as co-favorites now since pre-season choice Toledo has suffered a staggering blow.

The Rockets' ace guard, senior Larry Jones, suffered a fractured knuckle of the ring finger of his right hand Monday night and will be sidelined for about six weeks.

The hardluck Jones, being touted as an All-America candidate, suffered the injury when he slipped on ice after leaving basketball practice. Last year, the 6-foot-2 star missed virtually the entire season with a fractured right wrist.

Miami Coach Dick Shrider eyes tonight's skirmish philosophically.

"We said when this thing started last week we were going after 'em one at a time and that's exactly what we're doing," Shrider said. "Next on the list is Ohio."

Miami pins its offensive hopes on a one-two scoring punch supplied by forward Jeff Gehring and guard Charley Coles. Gehring is averaging 22.2 points per game and Coles 18.6.

The Bobcats have four regulars hitting in double figures led by forward Don Hilt at 15.5 and guard Jerry Jackson at 15.2.

Anything Can Happen In Bing Crosby's Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) —Anything can happen at Bing Crosby's golf tournament and you can only guess what will happen when the $60,000 production swings into action Thursday.

Two years ago snow caused postponement of the final day's play. Never before had it snowed during this tournament but rain and winds aren't at all unusual.

A year ago pro Dave Douglas of Lakewood, Colo., carded a 19 on the 10th hole of the Pebble Beach course. That set no record since Hans Merrill of Mogadore, Ohio, had taken 19 strokes on the over-the-ocean 16th hole at Cypress Point a couple years before.

Arnold Palmer's money-winning was stopped at 47 consecutive tournaments when in the 1963 Crosby he was disqualified for improperly playing a provisional ball.

Billy Casper won a year ago with a 72-hole score of 285 but he had to watch on television while both Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player lost big chances to catch him. Finally, five tied at 286 just a stroke off the pace.

Both Player and Nicklaus missed putts on the 18th that would have sent the tournament into a playoff.

Even crooner Crosby could have had no idea how big his tournament would grow when he first invited some friends to a golfing clambake at Southern California's Rancho Santa Fe in 1937. That friendly gathering of pros and amateurs grew into a field of 348 this year playing over three courses.

Crosby's tourney carries a $60,000 price tag but he keeps the format of teaming a pro with an amateur throughout the play. Each team plays Monterey Peninsula Country Club, Cypress Point and Pebble Beach alternately the first three days.

The leaders battle it out in the final at Pebble Beach on Sunday.

Nicklaus, who won the National Amateur at Pebble Beach in 1961 before turning pro, returns to the wars for this one. He missed the earlier 1964 action at Los Angeles and San Diego when Paul Harney and Art Wall captured titles.

Baseball Heads Meet

The Circleville Youth Baseball Program directors will meet 7:30 p. m. tonight at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds, it was announced today by Forrest Brown, secretary of the organization.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians have signed outfielders Vic Davalillo and Al Luplow for 1964. Davalillo is believed to have received a salary increase.

Davalillo, 24, who missed two months of action after a pitched ball hit him June 12 and broke a bone in his forearm, is believed to have signed for about $12,000. The diminutive center-fielder, who was in a close race for rookie of the year honors until he was injured, made the $7,500 minimum last year. He finished the season with a .292 batting average and sparked in the field and on the bases.

LE Braves Play University High

The Logan Elm basketball team will host Columbus University, one of central Ohio's top class A high school basketball teams, Saturday night.

The Braves, with a 5-5 record for the season, meet Jackson Twp. Friday night.

University has lost only to Mansfield Senior High School in competition this year and is currently leading the Franklin County League.

Grade Cage Program Begins Competition

Fifth and sixth grade teams reached by John Maxwell and John Thomas won games in the initial round of play in the grade competition Saturday.

The Maxwell unit posted a 12-6 win over Roth's while Thomas team topped a unit coached by Chet Iery, 6-0.

Coming action in the program pits the Bass team against the Purcell unit and the Roth five against the Thomas team.

Big Catcher's Mitts Get Life Extension

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball catchers who have to contend with the butterfly deliveries of knuckleball pitchers got some good news today from the rules-makers.

The receivers still will be able to use the bigger-than-average catchers' mitts for another year. The baseball rulesmakers have reconsidered and decided to wait until the 1965 season before enforcing the limit on the size of the mitts.

Teays Valley-Alumni Cage Tilt Postponed

The Teays Valley High School basketball game with the Alumni has been postponed, it was announced today by Russ Gregg, Viking cage coach and athletic director.

Gregg noted that several factors entered into the decision to postpone the tilt. It will be rescheduled at a later date.

The longest pass interception that turned into a touchdown in the Big Ten in 1963 was 78 yards. Steve Murphy of Northwestern did it against Miami of Ohio last October.

John (Whack) Hyder, who lettered in basketball, baseball, track and cross country at Georgia Tech, has been basketball coach at the Atlanta school since the 1951-62 season.

Anything Can Happen In Bing Crosby's Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) —Anything can happen at Bing Crosby's golf tournament and you can only guess what will happen when the $60,000 production swings into action Thursday.

Two years ago snow caused postponement of the final day's play. Never before had it snowed during this tournament but rain and winds aren't at all unusual.

A year ago pro Dave Douglas of Lakewood, Colo., carded a 19 on the 10th hole of the Pebble Beach course. That set no record since Hans Merrill of Mogadore, Ohio, had taken 19 strokes on the over-the-ocean 16th hole at Cypress Point a couple years before.

Arnold Palmer's money-winning was stopped at 47 consecutive tournaments when in the 1963 Crosby he was disqualified for improperly playing a provisional ball.

Billy Casper won a year ago with a 72-hole score of 285 but he had to watch on television while both Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player lost big chances to catch him. Finally, five tied at 286 just a stroke off the pace.

Both Player and Nicklaus missed putts on the 18th that would have sent the tournament into a playoff.

Hilt, a rugged 6-4 junior, is the MAC's leading field goal percentage shooter and Ohio's strongest rebounder.

If the Redskins overcome the hurdle at Athens, they'll have to get by another roadblock Saturday when they tangle with Bowling Green. The so-so Falcons have high-scoring Howard (Butch) Komives and are always tough at home.

In another Saturday fray, Western Michigan, very much in the race with a 2-1 showing, entertains weak Kent State.

Toledo, 2-2 in the loop, has until Feb. 5 to regroup its forces. The Rockets don't play in the league again until that date when Bowling Green provides the opposition.

East Wins Star Game as Players Threaten Strike

BOSTON (AP)—It was advertised as the night of the 14th annual National Basketball Association All-Star game.

But it may have been the night the NBA came painfully close to collapsing.

Game time Tuesday night was 9 p.m., EST. Television cameras for a national audience were ready. A full house was settling back at Boston Garden, waiting for the 20 best players in the league to begin action for the East and West teams. The spotlights were about to go on.

There was only one flaw. The players had decided they were going to walk out—leaving the cameras, the audience, the fans and the spotlights—if the league didn't call a meeting of the Board of Governors.

They wanted a pension plan. And, apparently, they wanted it, or at least solid assurance of it, right then and there.

"The players told me at 8:55, five minutes before game-time, that they would go through with the game," said J. Walter Kennedy, league president.

Until that moment, Kennedy said, the game was in doubt. The East squad, led by Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson and Boston's Sam Jones, went on to win 111-107 and register its ninth victory in 14 games.

But the game seemed anticlimactical after what had been taking place in a dressing room 50 feet from the court.

Kennedy told newsmen at the hastily called conference just out of sight of the fans—and just as the game got underway that he had just met with All-Star Tom Heinsohn of Boston, President of the NBA Players Association, earlier Tuesday and discussed the proposed pension plan.

He assured Heinsohn, he said, that the plan would be acted on either Feb. 18-19, at the NBA Board of Governors meeting, or on May 1, when all the club owners would be present at the league's annual meeting.

He said he thought the matter had been taken care of. But at 6 p.m. Heinsohn and Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks came to his hotel room and demanded an immediate Board of Governors meeting.

This was impossible, Kennedy told them. But he agreed to contact all the owners who were in Boston for the game and get assurances from them that they would act on the pension plan either next month or May 1.

The NBA president then met with the 20 All-Star players in a dressing room at 8:25 and assured them that the plan will be thoroughly considered.

That was that and the game—a good one—went on after a 10-minute delay. The East built up an 18-point lead in the third period, then had to hang on as the West, led by Jerry West of Los Angeles, Wilt Chamberlain of San Francisco and Pettit, rallied and closed the margin to four points on three occasions.

Robertson was the game's high scorer and Most Valuable Player with 26 points, 14 rebounds and eight assists. Wilt and Pettit each had 19 points.

Rookie pitcher Tommy John of the Cleveland Indians won nine games at Charleston and six at Jacksonville last season.

Circleville Five Faces Rough Test At Wilmington

The Circleville High School basketball team will face a tough test Friday when the Tigers travel to Wilmington for a South Central Ohio League game.

After 10 dismal starts this season, the Tigers finally tasted victory last Friday when they defeated Franklin Heights, 57-55.

But they will be playing in the balliwick of the Hurricane this week. Only undefeated Pleasant View has bested the Wilmington High School cagers on their own floor in recent years.

Just two weeks ago, Wilmington withstood a 91-point CHS scoring effort here by coming up with 99 markers in a high scoring tilt.

BUT THE stranglehold the Hurricane has enjoyed in the SCO seems to be slipping. The defending co-champions have already lost three games this year.

The first loss was suffered at Franklin Heights. The second came when Pleasant View traveled to Wilmington and the third just last week when the charges of Allen Burger invaded Greenfield McClain, where Burger coached last year.

The three losses have slipped the defending champions into third place in the standings. Pleasant View's perfect 6-0 slate is tops while Hillsboro is running second with a 4-2 record.

Tiger coach Don Neff, searching for a winning combination, utilized an exciting two platoon system against Wilmington in the previous game here.

A senior quintet started the game, was relieved by five juniors, went back into the game during the third period, and then was replaced by the juniors again in the final period.

However, last week his starting team consisted of four juniors, John Thomas, Chet Iery, Ron Seward, John Maxwell and one senior, Tom Smith.

BOB PURCELL replaced Maxwell at guard and it was Thomas, Iery, Seward, Smith and Purcell finishing the game.

Two Tiger seniors, Dave Bass and Tom Tootle, were out with injuries — Bass with a bad back and Tootle with a sprained ankle.

Thomas and Smith are leading the Circleville offense with 150 points each. In the League, Thomas has tallied 115, good for fourth place behind George Fannin of Pleasant View who has 131 markers, Hillsboro's Fred Cluff with 129 and Greenfield's Tom Doyle with 118.

Purcell, who has tallied 113 points for Circleville in all games, has 79 points in the seven league tilts and Smith has 74.

These three are the most consistent point makers on the Tiger team.

Elsewhere around the league, Greenfield McClain will be seeming to duplicate the upset effort of last week when the McClain Tigers upset the Wilmington Hurricane. They travel to unbeaten Pleasant View.

HILLSBORO will try to maintain their hold on second place and stay within striking distance of the lead when the Indians host Miami Trace.

Franklin Heights and Washington C. H. tangle on the Blue Lions' court.

Saturday games find Pleasant View at Teays Valley as the area's two teams with the best records clash; Hillsboro at Jackson and Miami Trace hosting Walnut Ridge.

Top Keglers Set For Dallas Test

DALLAS (AP) — One of the strongest fields in the 23-year history of the All-Star Bowling Tournament is on hand for tonight's opening events.

The 127-pound St. Louis fireball, Dick Weber, will be gunning for his third straight championship in the $100,000 event. He would win $15,000 if he takes the title as he has done the past two years.

The greatest threat facing Weber probably is Don Carter, who has won four of the 15 All-Stars in which he has appeared.

Nearly half of this year's field of 288 men are veterans from other All-Star tournaments. Marion Ladewig, 49, of Grand Rapids, Mich., won the women's title last year over Bobbie Shaler of Chicago. Both are back.

LHS Tilt Reslated

A basketball game between Laurelville and Bishop Flaget of Chillicothe, originally slated last night was postponed and has been rescheduled Saturday at Chillicothe.

Miami, OU Set for Vital Clash

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Long-time rivals Miami and Ohio University clash tonight in a crucial contest with first place at stake in the rugged Mid-American Conference basketball race.

The showdown at Athens is the game of the week in the topsy-turvy seven-member loop.

Miami, which has won seven of its last nine outings, is in first place with an unblemished 4-0 record. Ohio, 3-3 against all foes, stands 3-1 in the league and a victory could give the Bobcats a share of the top spot.

The two schools, boasting veteran quintets, have to be tabbed as co-favorites now since pre-season choice Toledo has suffered a staggering blow.

The Rockets' ace guard, senior Larry Jones, suffered a fractured knuckle of the ring finger of his right hand Monday night and will be sidelined for about six weeks.

The hardluck Jones, being touted as an All-America candidate, suffered the injury when he slipped on ice after leaving basketball practice. Last year, the 6-foot-2 star missed virtually the entire season with a fractured right wrist.

Miami Coach Dick Shrider eyes tonight's skirmish philosophically.

"We said when this thing started last week we were going after 'em one at a time and that's exactly what we're doing," Shrider said. "Next on the list is Ohio."

Miami pins its offensive hopes on a one-two scoring punch supplied by forward Jeff Gehring and guard Charley Coles. Gehring is averaging 22.2 points per game and Coles 18.6.

The Bobcats have four regulars hitting in double figures led by forward Don Hilt at 15.5 and guard Jerry Jackson at 15.2.

Hilt, a rugged 6-4 junior, is the MAC's leading field goal percentage shooter and Ohio's strongest rebounder.

If the Redskins overcome the hurdle at Athens, they'll have to get by another roadblock Saturday when they tangle with Bowling Green. The so-so Falcons have high-scoring Howard (Butch) Komives and are always tough at home.

In another Saturday fray, Western Michigan, very much in the race with a 2-1 showing, entertains weak Kent State.

Toledo, 2-2 in the loop, has until Feb. 5 to regroup its forces. The Rockets don't play in the league again until that date when Bowling Green provides the opposition.

In the MAC's only activity

Tuesday night, Kent State vultured away in the closing minutes to defeat Bowling Green 75-63 despite 29 points by Komives. Dan Norris had 23 points to spark the Flashes, who beat the Bee-Gees for the first time in three years.

Hiram Trips Capital in League Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Hiram's Terriers, who hadn't won a game in the Ohio Conference this season, knocked Capital from the league's top perch Tuesday night as they defeated the Crusaders 70-64 at Hiram.

Jim Warstler had 23 points to lead the upset that dropped Capital's loop record to 6-2. Otterbein, idle and with a 6-1 mark, took possession of the top spot.

The Terriers had lost four conference games going into the contest and were but a single notch away from the cellar, occupied by Heidelberg (0-5).

In the only other games played in the OC Tuesday night, Akron overpowered Oberlin 105-63 to boost its league mark to 4-2, and Denison beat Wooster 65-42.

An upset also highlighted the only game played in the Mid-American Conference as Kent State throttled Bowling Green's skidding Bee-Gees 75-63.

In other games, Cedarville edged Bluffton 65-3 in a Mid-Ohio Conference game; Central State downed Wilberforce 62-48; Rio Grande defeated Pikeville, Ky., 82-74, and Case Tech outscored Western Reserve 62-56 in a Presidents Athletic Conference contest.

Butts Hints OK Ahead on Award Slash

ATLANTA (AP) — Former Georgia athletic director Wallace Butts says he will be guided by his attorneys' recommendation that he accept a $2.6 million cut in his libel judgment against the Saturday Evening Post.

"We have recommended that he accept it," said attorney William H. Schroeder Jr. Tuesday night, "and we are certain he will take our recommendation."

"I will be guided by my attorneys," Butts said in Athens. "I have no further comment to make. It is my understanding that we have 20 days to make the decision."

A federal judge ruled Tuesday that the award of $3.06 million by a jury to Butts was grossly excessive. However, U. S. Dist. Judge Lewis R. Morgan held that the magazine libeled Butts in charging that he and Coach Paul Bryant of Alabama conspired to fix the 1962 Georgia-Alabama football game, won by Alabama 35-0.

The jury gave Butts $3 million punitive damages and $60,000 general damages. He had sued for $5 million in each category.

Cleveland Signs 2 Outfielders

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians have signed outfielders Vic Davalillo and Al Luplow for 1964. Davalillo is believed to have received a salary increase.

Davalillo, 24, who missed two months of action after a pitched ball hit him June 12 and broke a bone in his forearm, is believed to have signed for about $12,000. The diminutive center-fielder, who was in a close race for rookie of the year honors until he was injured, made the $7,500 minimum last year. He finished the season with a .292 batting average and sparkled in the field and on the bases.

Strange as it may seem, we put dehumidified air in our telephone cables and keep the pressure constant with a pump. If a cable sheathing is pierced or fractured, air seeps out, the pressure drops, and we know about it in time to make repairs before damaging moisture can creep in and possibly put your phone out of commission. This may sound like going to extremes. Actually, it's another example of how Gen Tel people and equipment work continuously to keep your phone in perfect working order.

Ear Bone Banks Now Aid Research into Deafness

By HARRY KURSH
Correspondent

NEW YORK — It would be easy enough to reach for a chuckle by saying that "Lend me your ears" would seem to be a pretty sharp slogan for the Deafness Research Foundation here. However, it is no laughing matter. The foundation, quite literally, would like very much to have your ears.

According to the foundation, some 17 million Americans suffer hearing impairments, about double the combined total of those who have heart disease, cancer, tuberculosis and polio. The foundation wants to speed mation he cannot get from patients, and information which will help him in diagnosis and treatment.

"Research into the inner ear is so difficult that standard works which are available on the rest of the body are not available on the ear."

The Deafness Research Foundation, which gave $50,000 to start the ear bone bank center at the University of Chicago, is itself a newcomer in the arena of non-profit groups battling widespread disease.

The Foundation was established in 1958 by Mrs. Collette Ramsey, a socialite from Short Hill, N. J.

At the age of 13, Mrs. Ramsey suffered a serious hearing loss, the cause of which was unknown. More than 20 years later, her hearing was restored by a new surgical technique known as a "fenestration operation."

Today, Mrs. Ramsey voluntarily devotes her entire time to the causes of deafness research. "I'm just trying to pay my debt to society," she says.

Almost always at the foundation's headquarters, Mrs. Ramsey is constantly on the telephone or writing letters to raise funds for the foundation or to instill hope in those with hearing impairments.

Thanks to Mrs. Ramsey's relentless drive, in the first five years of its life the foundation has been able to grant more than half a million dollars to ear researchers. Lend an ear? Now, you may do so literally.

Mrs. Collette Ramsey

research into ear diseases by making human ear bones available for surgical training and laboratory research.

The bones are part of the vital inner-ear mechanism. They cannot be examined in living persons. Until recently, the bones were a serious missing link in ear research.

In 1960, the foundation launched the first drive for Americans who have ear impairments to bequeath their ears to a "temporal bone bank" for research. Today, there are 25 such banks.

"Bone banks" are situated in such cities as New York; Detroit; Philadelphia; Baltimore; Los Angeles; Boston; Chicago; New Orleans; San Francisco; Iowa City, Iowa; Miami, Fla.; Minneapolis; St. Louis; Winston-Salem, N. C.; Gainesville, Ga.; Ann Arbor, Mich.; and Montclair, N.J.

Although the drive for ear donors is comparatively new, some 1,500 Americans have already signed agreements to donate their ears to science after their death. One of the best known donors is Nanette Fabray of TV fame.

Central headquarters for bone banks is the University of Chicago Medical School, where the donated ear bones are processed and shipped to member banks.

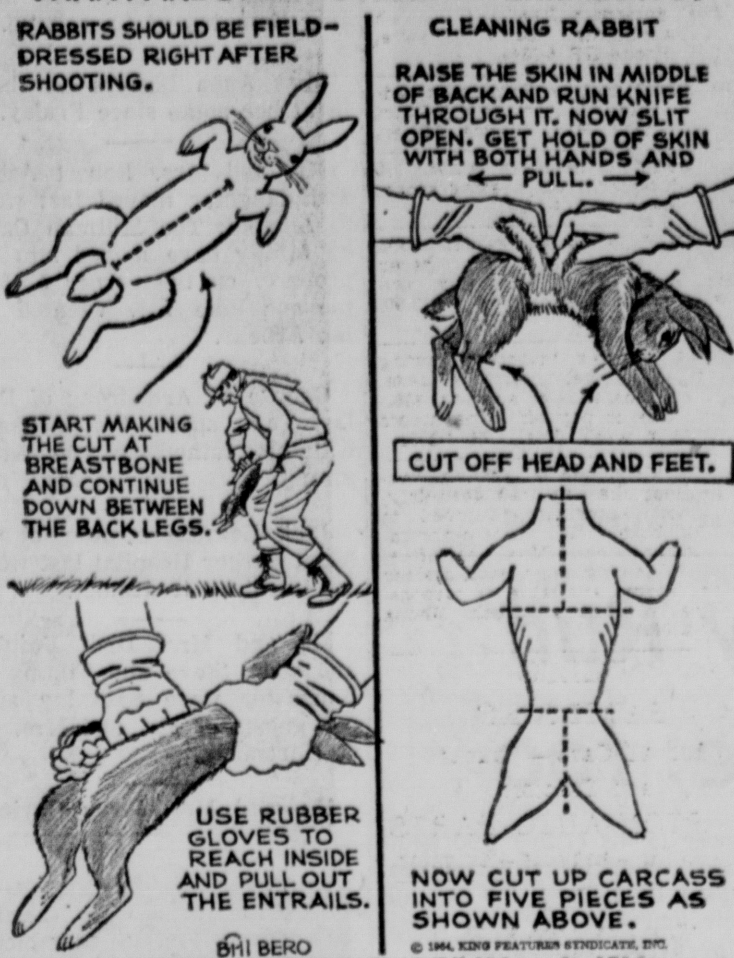

"The whole idea for the central repository for information is simple," says Dr. John R. Lindsay, a noted surgeon, head of the Temporal Bone Banks Center. "We are establishing a locale for the training of interested pathologists and otologists in the technique of sectioning and preserving specimens."

"More important, we are trying to build up a storehouse of information for the man studying diseases of the ear — infor-

Finley Case To Be Aired Before 'Fixed' AL Jury

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles O. Finley, who has huffed and puffed and threatened to blow the American League down, will take his case before a jury that apparently already has reached its verdict.

The case—basically a simple question of whether Finley can move his Kansas City Athletics to Louisville—has grown from a baseball argument into a political football.

Here's the starting line-up for Thursday's meeting:

Judge—Joe Cronin, American League president.

Jury—The American League club owners.

Interested parties—Top political figures from three states, Missouri, Kansas and Kentucky, including U.S. Senators Stuart Symington, D-Mo.; James Pearson, R-Kan., and Thurston Morton, R-Ky.

Cronin called the meeting in New York after Finley, involved in an argument with Kansas City civic officials over terms for use of Municipal Stadium, announced he had signed a contract to shift the A's franchise to Louisville for 1964 and 1965.

The jury need cast only three negative votes to prohibit Finley from moving. An Associated Press survey showed, earlier in the battle, that at least five clubs—New York, Boston, Baltimore, Chicago and Detroit—were opposed.

Baltimore President Lee MacPhail and Detroit owner John

Fetzer made public statements Tuesday.

Asked what would happen when Finley requests to move the A's, MacPhail said:

"I don't think he'll get one vote."

MacPhail said that "at no time was Finley encouraged to think the league would approve a transfer of the A's from Kansas City. The majority of us are against moving the A's."

Fetzer said he thought Finley's chances of getting his way were "less than 1,000 to one."

Fetzer went on to say that Finley's moves had been unorthodox and "there is a streak of irresponsibility involved here which precludes normal judgment."

Despite the obvious sentiment against his move, Finley has remained adamant. He has said the American League will not take away the franchise and he has issued this challenge:

"If the league pulls the rug out from beneath me, the league is going with me. The league is as involved in this as I am. This isn't all but I'm saving some things to spring at the meeting."

NOTICE

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Forest Cemetery Association (every lot owner is a stockholder) will be held at 7:30 p. m. January 20, 1964 at the cemetery office. The meeting is for the purpose of electing two directors and any other business that may properly come before the board.

Xavier Suspends Reserve Center

CINCINNATI (AP) — John Gorman, 6-foot-8 reserve center for Xavier University's basketball team, has been suspended from the team by Coach Don Ruberg as the result of a fight in a bar in Milwaukee early last Sunday.

Ruberg said Tuesday that Gorman, a sophomore, will not be able to play the rest of this semester, and after rejoining the squad next term will not be permitted to travel with the team on its away games.

Gorman and three Marquette University students were arrested following a fight last weekend after the Xavier Marquette game, Ruberg said. Gorman forfeited a $50 bond.

JACK KEARNS' claim in his memoirs that he encased Jack Dempsey's fists in plaster of Paris for his Jess Willard fight proves again what an unusual fighter manager he was. Even though he's not around, Kearns can still get Dempsey fighting mad.

Should T. A. Tittle have taken gain killers and returned to action in that championship game? We detect here the outline of a plot (for which we charge our usual fee) for a Doctor Kildare show.

Will Parseghian start a new golden "Ara" at Notre Dame?

Good things come in small packages department: Bill Edwards of Wittenberg as small college football coach of the year.

Wasn't that big of the NCAA to lop a few months off the four-year suspension of Indiana for recruiting violations? Could the NCAA have been considering the criticism it would get if the Hoosier swim team couldn't compete in the Olympics? Yes, Indiana, there is a Santa Claus.

Ear Bone Banks Now Aid Research into Deafness

By HARRY KURSH
Central Press Association
Correspondent

NEW YORK — It would be easy enough to reach for a chuckle by saying that "Lend me your ears" would seem to be a pretty sharp slogan for the Deafness Research Foundation here. However, it is no laughing matter. The foundation, quite literally, would like very much to have your ears.

According to the foundation, some 17 million Americans suffer hearing impairments, about double the combined total of those who have heart disease, cancer, tuberculosis and polio. The foundation wants to speed mation he cannot get from patients, and information which will help him in diagnosis and treatment.

"Research into the inner ear is so difficult that standard works which are available on the rest of the body are not available on the ear."

The Deafness Research Foundation, which gave $50,000 to start the ear bone banks center at the University of Chicago, is itself a newcomer in the arena of non-profit groups battling widespread disease.

The Foundation was established in 1958 by Mrs. Collette Ramsey, a socialite from Short Hill, N. J.

At the age of 13, Mrs. Ramsey suffered a serious hearing loss, the cause of which was unknown. More than 20 years later, her hearing was restored by a new surgical technique known as a "fenestration operation."

Today, Mrs. Ramsey voluntarily devotes her entire time to the causes of deafness research. "I'm just trying to pay my debt to society," she says.

Almost always at the foundation's headquarters, Mrs. Ramsey is constantly on the telephone or writing letters to raise funds for the foundation or to instill hope in those with hearing impairments.

Thanks to Mrs. Ramsey's relentless drive, in the first five years of its life the foundation has been able to grant more than half a million dollars to ear researchers. Lend an ear? Now, you may do so literally.

Mrs. Collette Ramsey

research into ear diseases by making human ear bones available for surgical training and laboratory research.

The bones are part of the vital inner-ear mechanism. They cannot be examined in living persons. Until recently, the bones were a serious missing link in ear research.

In 1960, the foundation launched the first drive for Americans who have ear impairments to bequeath their ears to a "temporal bone bank" for research. Today, there are 25 such banks.

"Bone banks" are situated in such cities as New York; Detroit; Philadelphia; Baltimore; Los Angeles; Boston; Chicago; New Orleans; San Francisco; Iowa City, Iowa; Miami, Fla.; Minneapolis; St. Louis; Winston-Salem, N. C.; Gainesville, Ga.; Ann Arbor, Mich.; and Montclair, N.J.

Although the drive for ear donors is comparatively new, some 1,500 Americans have already signed agreements to donate their ears to science after their death. One of the best known donors is Nanette Fabray of TV fame.

Central headquarters for bone banks is the University of Chicago Medical School, where the donated ear bones are processed and shipped to member banks.

"The whole idea for the central repository for information is simple," says Dr. John R. Lindsay, a noted surgeon, head of the Temporal Bone Banks Center. "We are establishing a locale for the training of interested pathologists and otologists in the technique of sectioning and preserving specimens."

"More important, we are trying to build up a storehouse of information for the man studying diseases of the ear — infor-

Moscow Veto Feared by U.S. Skaters

HOENEFOSF, Norway (AP) —American speed skaters hope to score heavily in their strong event, the 500-meter race, during next month's Winter Olympics, but a 31-year-old Moscow meteor may veto the project.

Evgeny Grishin, Russia's two-time Olympic champion and world record holder at the distance, zipped to an easy victory over an international field Tuesday in a pre-Olympic meet.

U.S. skaters took four of the first 12 places but team coach Leo Freisinger was disappointed.

"I expected we would do quite a lot better," Freisinger said after Bill Disney of Rosemead, Calif., finished third, more than a second behind Grishin's winning time of 41.2 seconds. "The boys were losing a lot of strides and were fighting the ice all the time."

Villy Haugen, 19-year-old Norwegian, was runner-up to Grishin in 42.2 seconds. The Russian captured the 500-meter event in both the 1956 and 1960 Olympics and also won the 1,500-meter race in 1956. Speed skaters race the clock in two-man heats, rather than in packs, during European and Olympic competition.

Xavier Suspends Reserve Center

CINCINNATI (AP) — John Gorman, 6-foot-8 reserve center for Xavier University's basketball team, has been suspended from the team by Coach Don Ruberg as the result of a fight in a bar in Milwaukee early last Sunday.

Rubert said Tuesday that Gorman, a sophomore, will not be able to play the rest of this semester, and after rejoining the squad next term will not be permitted to travel with the team on its away games.

Gorman and three Marquette University students were arrested following a fight last weekend after the Xavier-Marquette game. Ruberg said. Gorman forfeited a $50 bond.

Finley Case To Be Aired Before 'Fixed' AL Jury

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles O. Finley, who has huffed and puffed and threatened to blow the American League down, will take his case before a jury that apparently already has reached its verdict.

Fetzer made public statements Tuesday.

Asked what would happen when Finley requests to move the A's, MacPhail said: "I don't think he'll get one vote."

The case—basically a simple question of whether Finley can move his Kansas City Athletics to Louisville—has grown from a baseball argument into a political football.

Here's the starting line-up for Thursday's meeting:

Judge—Joe Cronin, American League president.

Jury—The American League club owners.

Interested parties—Top political figures from three states, Missouri, Kansas and Kentucky, including U.S. Senators Stuart Symington, D-Mo.; James Pearson, R-Kan.; and Thurston Morton, R-Ky.

Cronin called the meeting in New York after Finley, involved in an argument with Kansas City civic officials over terms for use of Municipal Stadium, announced he had signed a contract to shift the A's franchise to Louisville for 1964 and 1965.

The jury need cast only three negative votes to prohibit Finley from moving. An Associated Press survey showed, earlier in the battle, that at least five clubs—New York, Boston, Baltimore, Chicago and Detroit—were opposed.

Greenfield School To Get Bell Tower

GREENFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Prof. F. R. Harris, 84-year-old superintendent emeritus of the Greenfield schools has realized most of his life's ambitions since his young manhood, and he hopes to attain still another treasured goal this spring.

The Board of Education has accepted his offer to donate a bell tower which will house the first school bell ever rung in Greenfield and one which he as a high school student rang several times a day for three years.

The tall, slender tower will be erected in an open area at the south end of the Duncan McArthur Primary building, one of the five buildings which, together with McClain Field, occupy the school campus at the approximate geometric center of Greenfield.

The Sever-Williams Co. of Washington Court House drew plans for the 29-foot tower and also will construct it. It will measure 6 feet, 8 inches square and surmounting it will be the 120-year-old bell.

Prof. Harris has not disclosed the cost of his gift. It will be of native stone and reddish-brown brick construction, matching other building on the campus. It will be dedicated at McClain High School's 93rd commencement in late May.

The professor, who has traveled to most parts of the world, has written a book on his travels as well as a history of Greenfield in three volumes.

Monroe Council Has Ham Supper

New Zanzibar Trouble Seen

Anti-Arab Terror May Be Building

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP)—A wave of anti-Arab terror may be building up on Zanzibar, where African nationalists overthrew the Arab government last weekend.

The military leader of the revolt, John Okello, announced via Zanzibar Radio that the Minister of Finance and development in the old government, Juma Aley Juma - Abraway, would be hanged publicly today.

Okello said two other prominent Arabs, former Asst. Minister Rashid Hamadi Othman and Orani Hamed of Pemba Island, a dependency of Zanzibar, would also be hanged. He set no date.

Okello said previously that another Arab, Elek Sailim, would be doused with gasoline and burned and that Hilal Kihanga, a wealthy Arab merchant, had been ordered to kill his sons and daughters and then kill himself.

Zanzibar reports indicated Okello is humiliating once-proud Arabs who fought the rebels in Sunday's revolt that overthrew Sultan Seyyid Jamshid bin Abdullah's regime.

The Arabs are to kneel or lie face down in the streets stripped to their underwear, with all their firearms beside them, singing "God Save Africa."

Rebel hate is being directed only against Arabs and not against Europeans.

Latest casualty figures give no total dead in the rebellion but it is feared the tally may reach 100.

Nursing Home Fire Probe Near Windup

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—The last two witnesses in the Huron County grand jury's probe into a nursing home fire that killed 63 persons were scheduled to be heard today. They were John J. Carr, a state building inspector, and a former employee of the home, Elmer Hall.

The inquiry involves the Golden Age Nursing Home at nearby Fitchville, which was destroyed by fire Nov. 23.

BACK HOME—Katherine Ann Scott, 12, Williston Park, N. Y., who spent her life savings to run away from home via a jetliner to Los Angeles, is greeted by her mother as she arrives back at John F. Kennedy Airport, New York.

THEY'RE BOTH ATOMIC—Lt. Col. John Sawbridge holds a 155-mm. shell, which now can be nuclear, beside a facsimile of an early atomic bomb at Fort Sill, Okla.

Barry May Run For Senate, too

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater's draft number may come up again—this time with supporters of the Arizona urging him to run for re-election to the Senate even if he becomes the Republican presidential nominee.

With Goldwater in the race for the GOP nomination, the draft organization that spent nine months urging him to seek the presidency has gone out of business.

There's talk today of another draft-style movement to provide some insurance against an unsuccessful bid for the White House next November.

"So far there's nothing organized along this line that I know of," said Ted Kazy, the senator's administrative assistant. "But we've been receiving mail on it for some time now."

Goldwater has not said what he will do about the Senate race if he wins the presidential nomination at the San Francisco convention opening next July 13.

He has said he will file for re-election to the Senate. The deadline is July 10, and it would be foolish not to, Goldwater said.

Goldwater has the assurance of Arizona Atty. Gen. Robert Pickrell that he could run for both president and senator.

But he says his inclination is against that strategy. "My feelings are against running for two jobs," Goldwater said in opening his campaign for the New Hampshire presidential primary.

Goldwater added, however, that Arizona supporters could take the matter out of his hands even if he withdrew from the Senate race.

That could come in the form of a write-in campaign for the Sept. 8 Arizona primary.

The senator's presidential campaign manager, Denison Kitchel, says there is support for such a move in Arizona and elsewhere.

Barry May Run For Senate, too

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's draft number may come up again—this time with supporters of the Arizonaan urging him to run for re-election to the Senate even if he becomes the Republican presidential nominee.

With Goldwater in the race for the GOP nomination, the draft organization that spent nine months urging him to seek the presidency has gone out of business.

There's talk today of another draft-style movement to provide some insurance against an unsuccessful bid for the White House next November.

"So far there's nothing organized along this line that I know of," said Ted Kazy, the senator's administrative assistant. "But we've been receiving mail on it for some time now."

Goldwater has not said what he will do about the Senate race if he wins the presidential nomination at the San Francisco convention opening next July 13.

He has said he will file for re-election to the Senate. The deadline is July 10, and it would be foolish not to, Goldwater said.

Goldwater has the assurance of Arizona Atty. Gen. Robert Pickrell that he could run for both president and senator.

But he says his inclination is against that strategy. "My feelings are against running for two jobs," Goldwater said in opening his campaign for the New Hampshire presidential primary.

Goldwater added, however, that Arizona supporters could take the matter out of his hands even if he withdrew from the Senate race.

That could come in the form of a write-in campaign for the Sept. 8 Arizona primary.

The senator's presidential campaign manager, Denison Kitchel, says there is support for such a move in Arizona and elsewhere.

A draft-style movement or a write-in renomination would provide Goldwater with a ready answer to his critics who point to his 1960 criticism of then Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson for seeking re-election and the vice presidency at the same time.

Patrolman R. L. Atwood Transferred

Patrolman R. L. Atwood of the Circleville State Highway Patrol Post has been transferred to the Van Wert Post, it was announced today by Sgt. S. L. Adomaitis.

The transfer became effective today. Replacing Atwood here is Patrolman F. C. Carroll, who was graduated Jan. 10 from the Patrol Academy.

Carroll is married and has one child. He is a native of South Point.

Sgt. Adomaitis reported there is still a need for desk dispatchers at the local post. Applicants for the position should be 19 or 20 years of age, of good moral background and should have no physical defects.

Applications may be secured at the local post on S. Court St.
